VIMS ICU deaths were pre-planned: Director

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Ballari

IN a shocking revelation, Gangadar Gowda, Director of Vijayanagara Institute of Medical Science (VIMS) in Ballari has alleged that the deaths of two patients in the ICU were "premeditated" as part of a conspiracy to spoil the reputation of the institute and to get him removed from the post. Gowda said he is planning to lodge a complaint with the police in this regard.

Two patients, admitted in the ICU of VIMS, died on September 14 allegedly due to a power failure. However, confusion prevails over the number of deaths in the incident. Though the hospital administration claims two persons died, there are reports of deaths of four patients doing the rounds

Gowda told TNSE, "I have proof in the form of audio clips. I will soon file a complaint and fight it legally."

"As the probe panel members visited the hospital on Friday, I explained the sequence of events to them. I hope the truth will come out soon. If there is any lapse on my part, I am ready to face action", he added.

On September 14, there was a power outage at the hospital from 8 am to 11 am and the two patients who were on ventilators died due to a power failure. The deceased are Chettamma (36) and Husein (39). On the same day, Chandramma (65) and Manoj Kumar (18) also died but the VIMS administration described them as natural deaths.

Meanwhile, MLA Somashekhar Reddy slammed Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar for his alleged inaction in the episode. He said he had raised doubts over the appointment of Gowda as the director. "I was against Gowda's appointment from day one. I will soon meet Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai to discuss the issue," he added. P4

CHEETAHS ARRIVE IN STYLE

Special aircraft lands at Gwalior IAF airbase shortly before 8 am; PM releases big cats at KNP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal

SPORTING a dark olive wide-brimmed hat, a sleeveless khaki safari jacket and handling a powerful Nikon camera with zoom lens, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday celebrated his birthday among the eight cheetahs that were released into special enclosures at the Kuno National Park in Madhya Pradesh's Sheopur district.

The fully vaccinated big cats (five females and three males) flew 12 hours in a special cargo aircraft accompanied by wildlife experts from Namibia's Windhoek airport and landed at Gwalior IAF airbase at 7.55 am. They were shifted in Chinook helicopters to their new home at KNP.

Around 11.30 am, Modi marked his 72nd birthday by releasing three of the eight cheetahs into special enclosures where they will be in quarantine for a month. Modi was accompanied by Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan. Soon after the PM worked a lever that opened the cages, the cheetahs emerged wearing curious looks and explored their new surroundings. At first, they appeared to be hesitant and cautious. The PM captured the historic moment in his camera. "We have to give them (cheetahs) enough time to make KNP their new and best home. Have some patience and wait for some months before they comfortably make Kuno their new home," Modi appealed to wildlife enthusiasts.

The cheetahs will spend the next month in total quarantine in separate enclosures, where they will be under round-the-clock watch of experts.

"For around a month, they will be total guests and fed ready-to-eat food. Subsequently, they will be freed into the bigger enclosure, where they will hunt chitals, their first prey," a source said.

CHANDAN NANDY @New Delhi

FOR the next one month, the eight cheetahs that were released into their respective enclosures within the Kano National Park on Saturday would be fed 'dressed buffalo meat', Madhya Pradesh Divisional Forest Officer Prakash Verma told this paper. As per protocol, the cheetahs travelled from Namibia on empty stomachs even as they were under mild sedation. Once they were released into their respective quarantine enclosures, they had water from the water bodies which are replenished regularly.

"We'll feed them dressed buffalo meat... The meat will be pre-tested before it is served to the cheetahs. This will be followed for a month before they are allowed into larger enclosures, each 5 sq km in area, where they will be able to hunt chital, neel gai, wild pigs and sambhar which are in plentiful," National Tiger Conservation Authority Member Secretary Dr S P Yadav said.

He added that all the cheetahs are doing well. "They are active and they are exploring their new surroundings," Yadav said, adding the big cats will be fed every "two to three days, depending on the advice of the veteranarians".

The big cats will be under observation for the first one month at their new home, and experts from the Wildlife Institute of India will analyse the data from the radio collars around the cheetahs' necks.

Besides the animals' eating habits and the manner in which they will hunt in their new horizons, their excreta will also be tracked as it provides crucial information about their health and movement patterns, wildlife experts said.

Karnataka may not get the big cat

Bengaluru: Even as cheetahs have been reintroduced in India, Karnataka might not get to see the big cat sprinting in the wild. With changes in Karnataka forests and wildlife population, introduction of a new species will not be possible, an official said. "We cannot experiment all the time and everywhere. We need to wait and see what happens in Kuno." P5

New Central govt policy to reduce transport cost

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday launched the National Logistics Policy, which seeks to promote faster movement of goods while bringing down transportation costs considerably. The policy aims to bring down the logistics cost from 13-14% of the GDP to 8%. "We must bring the logistic cost to single digit as soon as possible. This, in a way, is a low-hanging fruit, if we have to become globally competitive," said Modi while unveiling the policy, which he said will help fulfill India's dream of becoming a developed economy.

"The echo of Make in India and India becoming self-reliant is everywhere. India is setting big export targets and is also fulfilling them. The notion that India is emerging as a manufacturing hub, is stabilizing in the mind of the world. If we study the PLI scheme we will find that the world has accepted it," Modi stated.

In such a situation, the PM said, the policy will bring new energy to all sectors. He said the policy is just a beginning and its execution will be key to progress. The policy envisages creating a Unique Logistics Interface Platform that will bring all the digital services related to the transportation sector into a single portal, freeing the exporters from a host of very long and cumbersome processes. It also plans standardisation of physical assets — like size of containers, trucks, etc — better engagement with states, development of logistics parks, etc.

Sarpanch pawns jewellery to instal cameras in village

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

A newly elected sarpanch in Madhya Pradesh stands as a rare example of a public leader working for public good, even at a personal cost. Asha Kaithwas, 35, was recently elected as a sarpanch in Madhya Pradesh's Burhanpur district.

Kaithwas was elected to the post about one-and-half-months ago. She came to power at a time when the abduction of a 12-year-old boy from Jhajhar village, which comes under the Jhiri panchayat, sparked panic among villagers.

Making security of the villagers a priority, Kaithwas mortgaged the jewellery given by parents at time of her marriage in 2009, to fund the installation of four CCTV cameras and supporting equipment.

Though the boy was found two days later in the Jalgaon district of Maharashtra, some 70 km away from his village, Kaithwas told this newspaper that the police faced difficulties in locating the boy due to lack of CCTV cameras.

"As I was only recently elected, I was yet to get the charge from the outgoing sarpanch. Also, my digital signatures were yet to be recorded owing to which I could not get money allocated for the village panchayat. I decided to mortgage the jewellery," she said. The CCTV cameras and supporting equipment cost ₹82,000.

Is it the end of the road for world-famous 'Land of Toys'

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@Ramanagara/Mandya

CHANNAPATNA, the Land of Toys, with its rich cultural history dating back to hundreds of years, is known for its wooden handicrafts and skilled artisans. A taluk headquarters in Ramanagara district, Channapatna is known for its toys and handicrafts, which are famous across the world.

But all this could soon be history as the work on the ambitious 10-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru Expressway is going on in full swing. Though the expressway is not fully operational yet, it has already snatched the livelihoods of thousands of people. The corridor has nine major bridges, 44 minor bridges and four rail over-bridges. Once fully functional, the 117-km highway – from the NICE entrance in Bengaluru to Ring Road Junction in Mysuru -- is expected to cut travel time from an average of three hours to about 90 minutes.

On the flip side though, a dipstick survey of businesses that thrive along the route paints a grim picture. Take Sri Meenakshi Handicraft for instance. One of the biggest toy shops in Channapatna, it now faces an uncertain future. Buzzing with activity till recently, the staff strength here has reduced to only two from the earlier 15. Handmade wooden toys worth crores of rupees are lying unsold.

This is the story of many such toy emporiums in and around Channapatna, which is located on the old Bengaluru-Mysuru road.

Even the famous idli joints of Bidadi in Ramanagara and Maddur Tiffanys in Maddur, which have been running for the last 70 to 100 years, are facing the threat as the expressway bypasses them. P2

Narayanapura, a small village near Bengaluru city, has been keeping its pottery legacy alive for the past 80 years

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE @Bengaluru

IT'S daybreak! Narayanapura wakes up to yet another day in the clay. A jaunt of about 25km from Bengaluru gets one to this quaint village, tucked between sylvan farms and urban pockets. The air here carries a soothing earthy whiff, whilst its little roads exhibit the masterpieces of its residents – the potters of Narayanapura.

Narayanapura and pottery share a time-honoured tryst going as far back as eight decades, when the first families of potters settled here. Today, this village is steadily gaining prominence for its clay artisanry.

Rising with the sun

Blending skill, creativity, and physical labour, pottery work begins early in the morning, which is also the best time to catch the potters at their wheels, with their stories.

Nandish Kumar, a resident potter, is well-acquainted with the history of his village. "Pottery is the principal occupation in Narayanapura. There are at least 25 households still practising the trade of our forefathers, with all members, including women, taking part in the process," he mentions.

Almost every dwelling in Narayanapura breathes pottery, with batches of freshly-fashioned pots, tea kulhads, hundis, lamps, dhoop-stands, plates, and other clay creations being kept out to dry in the sun. Munchinappa, another potter, is busy firing up the furnace of a kiln. "This task alone takes at least six hours, before the kiln heats up to the required temperature, and bakes our wares to perfection," he says, adding that the fire's intensity is maintained by a constant supply of eucalyptus leaves and twigs.

While the potters are busy through the year, their work is defined by the flavours of the season. Up until the end of August, they were crafting clay idols of Lord Ganesha and Goddess Gowri for Ganesha Chaturthi, and have since shifted to making diyas for Deepavali. "Today, it's encouraging to watch people's interest in things organic and earthy, even for festivals. That's a boon for us as we make clay Ganesha idols and other naturally-derived products," says Babu, whose deft fingers are picking up one dhoop-stand after another from his wheel.

His father, Munikrishnappa, informs that earlier, they used to make flower pots as well, but have since stopped due to paucity of space and demand, choosing to stick to seasonal trends.

Pottery is not as simple it seems, requiring single-minded dedication, in tandem with logistical planning and conducive weather conditions. The clay used by these potters is sourced from lakes, from a depth of 2 feet. It ought to have a sticky, yet elastic consistency, to be shaped into any form. The clay is left to dry for 24 hours by when it gets caked. At this stage, water is added and mixed thoroughly, spread and wrapped in plastic sheets, and stored. This process arrests the moisture within the clay, preparing it for modelling. Once each work is created, it is given finishing touches mostly by women, and each batch of items is dried in the sun for a few hours, before being baked in the kiln. Today, Narayanapura has attracted some necessary attention from art lovers, customers and those fascinated with pottery. The village's clay works are also shipped to retail markets in Bengaluru. While a few families have set up makeshift shops near their homes, one also comes across city youngsters who are here to try their hand at the wheel.

"There is interest among people in pottery today. But as a community, we expect more to preserve our way of life and sustain ourselves. We cannot hope that our future generations will be as motivated as us to take up this ancestral profession. But we are content with what we do, something that is in sync with the environment," says Nandish. American author Og Mandino once stated, "A field of clay touched by the genius of man becomes a castle." The romance and nostalgia of pottery has largely remained unchanged for millennia. In Narayanapura, too, some wooden wheels have become electric, Ganesha Chaturthi heralds the onset of Deepavali, and the monsoon plays hide-and-seek. But the potters' wheels continue to spin, granting new life and future to fistfuls of earth.

Today, it's encouraging to watch people's interest in things organic and earthy, even for festivals. That's a boon for us
Babu, a potter of Narayanapura

TALE OF THE POT

The World History Encyclopedia mentions that "pottery is the first synthetic material ever created by humans", and echoes the beginnings of civilisation. The oldest evidence of pottery manufacture was discovered at an archaeological site, 'Odai Yamamoto', in Japan, where fragments sourced from a specific vessel have been dated to 16,500-14,920 years ago. In India, however, pottery can be traced back to the days of the Indus Valley civilisation, whose pots have revealed several facets of the daily life of its people. Almost every culture on earth has some interesting tales spilling out of its pottery.

Each day, Narayanapura gets alive with pottery - from red-hot kilns, clay being moulded, to potters busy at work, and their finished wares

A chance encounter with pottery got me hooked. Though I am an engineering graduate, I decided to take up pottery full time. I have some of my own clay creations, and I am also trying to monetise my work. I have been frequenting Narayanapura for some time to perfect the art from the masters
- Yadav Freeman, who learns pottery in Narayanapura

There is interest among people in pottery today. But as a community, we expect more in order to preserve our way of life and sustain ourselves. With our future generations, one cannot hope that they'll be as motivated as us to take up their ancestral profession. But we are content with what we do, something that is in sync with the environment

Shankar Kundar harvests green mussels

PRAKASH SAMAGA @Udupi

REAPING RICH BENEFITS
- Shankar Kundar has been cultivating green mussels since 2008
- He utilises the saline backwaters of the Sita river in Udupi district behind his house
- Shankar last year invested Rs 1.5 lakh to cultivate 800 gm of young mussels and earned Rs 4 lakh profit

Water is the essence of life. It nourishes and sustains living beings. When used in an innovative way, it can even fill one's pockets. One such individual is 51-year-old Shankar Kundar. Hailing from Kodi Kanyana village in Udupi district, Shankar stands testimony to the fact that you don't need crores to become an entrepreneur. All you need is an innovative idea and the determination to achieve. For this, Shankar did not have to go far from his house. He utilised the saline backwaters of the Sita river behind his house to grow green mussels (perna viridis) and has been reaping profits since 2008.

It is not an easy task. From collecting mussels to creating half-sunken scaffolding using bamboo in the backwaters to tying ropes on them for the young mussels to grow — the entire process has been a painstaking one.

Shankar ventured into aquaculture in 1994 when he worked in a prawn cultivation pond. But after he suffered losses due to a disease that affected the prawns, his attention moved towards cultivating green mussels. He reached out to the Central Marine Fisheries Research Institute (CMFRI), Regional Centre, Mangaluru, and their workshops on integrated farming combined with cage fish and seaweed farming helped him acquire skills for green mussel cultivation. After attending the CMFRI workshops, Shankar did not waste time and started green mussel cultivation in 2008. First, he approached the fishermen of Murudeshwar and Maravanthe for young green mussels, which are found mid sea, clinging to tide pool rocks, feeding on microbial organisms. But in this natural setting, green mussels do not grow faster due to lack of space in the rocks. Young mussels are about 15-20 mm. But in six months, they grow up to 120-160 mm when they are ready for harvesting. The tasty green mussel has good demand in Goa.Shankar said that a decade ago the price of one green mussel was Re 1. But as there is good demand now, it has gone up to Rs 10 per piece. Shankar last year (2021-22) had hung 500 ropes with each rope having young mussels weighing about 800 gm. He spent Rs 1.5 lakh, including labour charges, and got Rs 4 lakh in return. Shankar recalls that before taking part in CMFRI training, he was motivated by Anil Nair, an exporter, to engage in aquaculture. Initially, Shankar had supplied the yield to Kuwait, but soon realised there is a good demand in Goa. Since then, he has been supplying his produce to Goa and Kerala.

Shankar says the initial investment has gone up. In 2008, for the production of around 750 gm of mussels using 450 ropes, he had invested Rs 25,000. But last year, his investment was Rs 1.5 lakh. "The price has gone up 10 times, making it a profitable venture," he says.

Dr Geetha Sasikumar, principal scientist, CMFRI, Regional Centre, Mangaluru, who is involved in disseminating scientific bivalve farming techniques, resulting in adoption and commercialisation of mussel farming said green mussels grow well when salinity in the water is 25 parts per thousand. The ideal time to grow green mussels is from November to April or May. Once the monsoon starts, sweet water gets mixed with the backwaters of west flowing rivers, reducing salinity. Further, green mussels do not require additional nutrients to grow.

CSR CONCLAVE

Industrialists to help state develop govt first grade colleges in dists

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE state government has decided to take the help of entrepreneurs and industrialists in developing the proposed government first grade colleges in each district.

At the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) conclave on Friday night, Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan said corporates will help in developing 23 government first grade colleges in the state through CSR funds and the remaining colleges will be given a donation of Rs 2 crore for development.

Industrialists should not feel that their responsibility is over just by giving money. You must visit the government colleges and share the experiences and knowledge
Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai encouraged industrialists to take active part in the development of colleges aside from donating for their development. "Industrialists and entrepreneurs should not feel that their responsibility is over just by giving money. You must visit the government colleges and share the experiences and knowledge. This will boost the confidence among students who mainly come from socially and economically weaker sections," he said.

The development of colleges will include the setting up of libraries, laboratories and furnishing with required equipment. Representatives from Narayan Health, Satya Groups, HDFC, Century Group and Unacademy, as well as Kris Gopalakrishnan, head of the state IT Vision Group, and Prashant Prakash, head of the state Startups Vision Group, were addressed during the conclave.

"Each company must come forward to develop at least one government college. The act will go a long way in creating a good educational atmosphere in the state," said Narayan.

ITI WILL BE EQUAL TO PUC EDU, SAYS MINISTER

Bengaluru: Higher Education Minister C N Ashwath Narayan said on Saturday that 120 government industrial training institutes (ITIs) will be upgraded and 30 new ones will be set up. Speaking at the first Bangalore City District Level ITI Convocation held at the Government ITI, Peenya, the minister said ITI education will be considered equivalent to PUC as importance is being given to technical education. "Countries like Japan and China have achieved a lot in the manufacturing sector. India, especially Karnataka, should also come to the fore in the manufacturing sector along with the service sector. ITI graduates are vital in this," he said. He said Rs 4,500 crore has been spent in developing 150 ITIs with the help of Tata Group, alongside new courses for students, Narayan added. ENS

ICONIC EATERIES ON MYSURU HIGHWAY TAKE A HIT TOO

SHEKAR, whose uncle started Sri Meenakshi Handicraft from scratch 60 years ago, said the shop grew into one of the biggest toy outlets in Channapatna. But over the years, the demand has dwindled as tourists no longer stop to buy these unique, eco-friendly toys. "We have a big building to display toys, but we may be forced to switch over and use the space for some other business like a grocery shop," he said.

Naga, an employee at another big toy shop near Ambegaalu Krishna temple, Doddamaluru, said people who travelled along the Bengaluru-Mysuru road used to stop at the temple and also visit their shop to buy toys. "We have started feeling the heat. People are not coming, and we have nowhere to go. The government should make alternative arrangements for us," he appealed.

Over 400 families of Kalanagara in Channapatna make toys and supply them to big shops along the main road. But over the last few months, the shops have stopped placing orders with the artisans. "During the Covid-induced lockdowns, only essential services were allowed to function. Since toy-making is not one, we did not have work. But now when things are getting better for us, the expressway diversion work is nearing completion and it is haunting us. The government should give us space on the highway, wherever possible, to allow us to continue to work," said Farid Khan, a toy maker for the last 27 years.

Mohammed Syed, an artisan for the last 37 years, said he used to get orders to make 200 dolls and 1,000 bangles every week, but it has now been reduced to just 50 toys. "My son is pursuing a paramedical course in Bengaluru. It looks like our skill will stop with my generation. The expressway has killed our livelihood. The toys that are being made now are for Dasara, which falls next month. We don't know what to do after Dasara," he rued.

Even the iconic eateries on the stretch have taken a hit. Renukamba Thatte Idli, started in 1959 and famous for Bidadi thatte idli, is losing business fast. Suresh Babu HK, who is the third-generation proprietor of the joint, said that when the expressway gets completed, travellers will land straight in Ramanagara without touching Bidadi. "We have lost 80 per cent of our customers," he said.

Maddur Tiffanys managers too have a similar story to tell. The eatery, which has been selling the century-old delicacy Maddur vade for the last 34 years, is now looking for an alternative location near Nidaghatta on the expressway.

Bank prez in ED net for embezzlement

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

DIRECTORATE of Enforcement (ED) officials on Saturday arrested president of Sri Guru Raghavendra Sahakara Bank Niyamita K Ramakrishna under the provisions of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, 2002.

Ramakrishna is accused of misappropriating public deposits to the tune of more than Rs 1,000 crore.

Based on a complaint, an FIR was registered under various sections including the Karnataka Protection of Interest Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 by Basavanagudi police against Ramakrishna and others, an official said.

Investigation revealed that the bank employees had embezzled money deposited with the bank which had promised comparatively higher interest rates than the prevailing market rates. The money was diverted to various persons including bank staffers by creating fictitious accounts, without obtaining adequate security for the loans. The amount was then sent to overdue loan accounts for evergreening to show that the bank was financially strong.

ED has attached moveable and immovable properties worth Rs 45 crore of Ramakrishna, who has been sent to ED custody for five days.

BBMP ignoring encroachments by EcoSpace: AAP

'Mere eyewash, many buildings sitting on rajakaluve not being demolished'

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

AAM Aadmi Party members termed Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike's demolition drive at EcoSpace a mere 'drama'. Flashing documents and also a mobile application showing a rajakaluve passing behind EcoSpace, Aam Aadmi Party unit head from Mahadevapura zone, Ashok Mruthyunjaya, said the encroachments by EcoSpace on Survey Numbers 50, 64 and 66 of Bellandur have not been cleared.

Similarly, the Palike took up only minor demolition at the Nalapad Academy standing on SyNo 70, but did not even carry out any encroachment clearance drive of properties on Survey numbers 66, 67, 68 and 69 at Challaghatta, he said.

Ashok said he and his friends searched the path of the storm water drain using Dishaank mobile app and came across many buildings that are obstructing the drain.

"EcoSpace has encroached drains on Survey numbers 50, 64 and 66, but the anti-encroachment drive is happening somewhere else. This is a mere eyewash. The BJP government is afraid of clearing the encroachments by big builders. In Challaghatta, there are encroachments on survey numbers 66, 67, 68, 69 and 70, but BBMP is breaking only one wall of Sy No. 70, and not doing anything with encroachments on other survey numbers. How can water pass if only one wall is demolished? Is this just a drama by MLA Aravind Limbavali to show the people of Mahadevpura that encroachments are being cleared," he asked.

AAP leaders point to a drain allegedly encroached by tech companies at Bellandur in Bengaluru on Saturday

Ashok said he and his team also found that only the homes of the poor and middle-income groups have been demolished. The BBMP has not cleared a road constructed on top of a drain at Maruti Layout adjoining AECS Layout to help apartment dwellers.

BBMP Chief Engineer, Mahadevapura Zone, Basavaraj Kabade said as per instructions, surveying and marking of storm water drain is on. "Whatever has to be done legally will be done. From Monday, we will resume the drive," he added.

Day-6: Palike takes break, stops demolition drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER carrying out the demolition drive for the last six days, the BBMP on Saturday took a complete break and said its engineers and officials from the Revenue Department are carrying out a survey to determine the extent of encroachments.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said the Palike has removed close to 90 encroachments and he has now asked chief engineers of respective zones to file caveats as some property owners have approached the court. He said, "Once we get the report from the Bengaluru Urban deputy commissioner, we will go ahead with the drive." The areas get flooded as they are downstream, he added.

'CIVIL SOCIETY HAS TO PLAY ITS ROLE TO MAKE B'LURU LIVEABLE'

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

Taking action against builders and developers is easy. But it is high time action is taken against officials — those responsible for sanctioning plans to allow illegal constructions to go on without field inspection

A Ravindra, former Chief Secretary

RETIRED chief secretary, popularly known as the "Demolition Man of the State", A Ravindra told The New Sunday Express that there is indifference and lack of concern for Bengaluru among bureaucrats, politicians and citizens. If allowed to continue, it will be difficult to live in this city. The government ignored climate change warnings which led to this situation, apart from poor planning and governance. The civil society must now play an important role like it did in Noida to bring down the twin towers. Excerpts:

What are the reasons for flooding in Bengaluru?
There are two prime reasons: flooding, which is natural, and then there is encroachment and urbanisation. Bengaluru has experienced expansion of many areas over the last decade and the population has increased to 1.3 million. There is an increase in demand for land and occupational spaces. There is a construction spree which has led to encroachment of drains, wetlands and lakes. There is also a lot of unauthorised construction in low-lying areas, not just by the rich and mighty, but even by the common people.

Who is responsible for this situation?
Everyone has to be collectively blamed. Builders like to use the maximum space without proper considerations. Zoning regulations have to be followed to the scale, but there are large-scale violations. There are different authorities which sanction plans and supervise, but they all failed in preventing unauthorised and illegal constructions leading to this situation. Political interference is also a factor, which is encouraging such acts. It's a nexus.

Q&A

What action should be taken against officials accused of allowing encroachments on storm water drains?
This is very important. Taking action against builders and developers is easy. But it is high time action is taken against officials — those responsible for sanctioning plans to allow illegal constructions to go on without field inspection. If action is taken, things will begin to change. Here, the civil society should put pressure on the government. While we say there is a fault with officials, there is a fault at the political level too. Politicians should exercise caution and not interfere. A lot of officials succumb to political pressure. Politicians' interests have crept in in education, hospitals, colleges and other buildings. It's a tall order, but reforms are needed in leadership at the state and city-level.

You were known as the "Demolition Man". How do you look at the present drive and what can be better?
When I was heading the team for demolition, there were orders from various sections (courts and government) to stop it. Things are different now. The Lokayukta and High Court are also supporting it. But if this takes a political turn, then things will get worse. The government must keep climate change and weather events in mind. A sense has to prevail that severe damage can be caused if they do not take preventive measures. There is a need for a proper response team. The government should be accountable for works executed and the finances.

What rules/laws are required to ensure such a situation does not repeat? Bengaluru does not have a Master Plan and never had a Master Plan Scheme. Why?
There are sufficient good rules and laws, but they need to be implemented. In fact, the Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act gives enough powers to the commissioner. There are some rigid rules, which are paving way for violations. This could be a sign that the rules need to be modified. There is indifference and lack of concern for the city as a whole among government officials, bureaucrats and even citizens. If you allow this to go on, then living in Bengaluru will become difficult. The BBMP and the BDA need to rethink their planning process. There is a need to take a relook at governance and plan implementation.

What is the role of civil society and private companies who are accused of encroachment?
Civil society plays a crucial role now compared to earlier times. Now some are working on PILs (public interest litigation). The case of Noida's twin towers is an example of the role of civil society. In Kochi, people ensured the demolition of towers to protect the coast and environment. Here, too, the environment should be protected and given importance. The government should act quickly on complaints. But it is slow which is allowing unauthorised construction to go on. The civil society must take the lead. But many people believe that unauthorised constructions do not matter and they go on violating.

There is a perception that Brand Bengaluru has taken a beating.
There is nothing of that sort. People are making too much of it. But if we continue this way, and don't take measures, then the image will be hit.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai addresses the gathering after inaugurating the Kalyana Karnataka Amrit Mahotsava in Kalaburagi on Saturday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kalaburagi

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced that the state government will reserve Rs 5,000 crore in next year's budget, for the development of the Kalyana Karnataka region.

Inaugurating the Kalyana Karnataka Amrit Mahotsava here on Saturday, the CM said that the Centre is expected to announce the establishment of a textile park in Kalaburagi soon, for which he would lay the foundation stone.

Bommai added that he had requested the Union Government to sanction an All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) for Raichur district as well, while the construction of a Jayadeva Hospital branch in Kalaburagi is in progress, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi will be requested to inaugurate it.

He stated that all government schools in Kalyana Karnataka will get toilets by August 15 next year.

Questions Congress

Meanwhile, the chief minister remembered late minister Vaijanath Patil for bringing awareness on the need to put pressure on the government for amending Article 271 J of the Constitution. He also remembered Leader of Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge, who successfully managed to get an Amendment to the Article in Parliament when he was a Union minister. "But what happened after that," he questioned.

> Simply making an amendment (to Article 371 J) is not sufficient, it should be implemented. Our BJP government is implementing it
> Basavaraj Bommai, Chief Minister

The Congress ruled the state for five years after the Amendment to Article 371 J, but has failed to release much grants to KKRDB, he alleged, further slamming the grand old party for the unemployment during its rule. Rahul's yatra has given us boost ahead of 2023 Assembly polls: DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

KPCC president DK Shivakumar on Saturday said party senior leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra has given a boost to the party to organise itself better ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections.

He said that over 10,000 party workers should join the yatra when Rahul comes to the doorsteps of the state. Party workers should register for the yatra and vow to spur the party from the grassroots level, he added.

Addressing Congress workers here ahead of the yatra, he said Congress by winning the South Graduates' constituency and Council elections has sent a strong message across the state.

The party should continue the same tempo and this unity will help win all the seats in Mandya, he said.

Recalling that Prime Minister Narendra Modi had called the previous Siddaramaiah dispensation a 10 per cent commission government, he said the contractors association has come out in the open to accuse the present BJP government of collecting 40 per cent commission.

Shivakumar said KPCC that planned the Mekedatu padayatra under the directions of Rahul plans to take out one more padayatra towards River Krishna. He said they have directed leaders from North Karnataka to work on the proposed padayatra.He said there was a poor response to BJP's Janaspandana yatra and empty chairs greeted the speakers.

Former ministers to oversee yatra

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) has formed several committees headed by former ministers to oversee various aspects of Rahul Gandhi's 'Bharat Jodo' yatra that will enter the state on September 30. Modi, BJP playing religious politics, alleges Siddaramaiah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mysuru

EVEN as BJP workers were busy celebrating the birthday of Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday, opposition Congress continued its tirade against Modi and accused the saffron party of destroying the cultural diversity of the country by playing religious politics.

Urging Congressmen to join senior party leader Rahul Gandhi's historic 3,570 km Bharath Jodo Yatra on October 3, 6 and 7, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah said religious politics being pursued by Modi and BJP is against the spirit of the Constitution. He feared that the Constitution and democracy will suffer irreparable damage if BJP continues in power. He hit out at BJP for placing Nathuram Godse's portraits during Ganesha idols immersion processions and said the saffron party does not have any right to continue in power.

He alleged that the ruling party is spewing hatred and has no respect for farmers, the poor, and students. Coming down heavily against the BJP government for imposing GST on milk, he said the Centre has not taken any steps to check inflation.

He said the central government collected Rs 3.5 lakh crore in taxes from Karnataka, but gave back only Rs 50,000 crore. Though the state was hit by floods badly, Modi did not choose to visit here.

The government has released Rs 12 crore as relief for crop loss, while in Mandya alone the losses suffered by farmers run up to Rs 800 crore, he said.

STUDENTS SKIP SCHOOL, GHERAO GP OFFICE AGAINST BAD ROADS

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

AS a bus got stranded due to flash floods at Gojanur village in Gadag district, schoolchildren, fed up with the bad condition of roads, skipped their classes and laid siege to the local gram panchayat office on Thursday. The incident came to light only on Saturday after some villagers shared videos and images of schoolchildren protesting, on social media sites.

The condition of roads at the village has gone from bad to worse after the heavy rain over the last two weeks. The children protested against the inept approach of panchayat officials, taking villagers by surprise.

Seceral students from Shettikere, Chennapattana, Akkigunda and surrounding villages go to the Government Primary and High School at Gojanur. On Thursday, bus services resumed after the water level receded in the stream. But, the bus got stuck and students realised that the only option for them to reach the school was by walking 2 kilometres to the school. Instead, the children decided to gherao the panchayat office and staged a protest demanding immediate repair of roads. Panchayat officials convinced the students to end their protest and sent them to school, saying the roads are damaged due to heavy rain over the last few days. Villagers and farmers of Gojanur, who were working nearby, pushed the bus across the stream and mud. A student said, "We were going to the school with heavy bags, lunch boxes and water bottles. An elderly man asked us to follow him and stage a protest in front of the GP office. We all went with him. The road has been in such bad condition for many days now." A GP member from Gojanur said, "The road has been damaged due to heavy rain and we have also brought it to the notice of the tahsildar and we will take up repair works once the rain stops."

KCR passes quota ball to Centre

Telangana CM K Chandrashekar Rao at Public Gardens in Hyderabad on Saturday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

IN a major decision, Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrasekhar Rao has announced that a GO will be issued within a week to enhance the reservations of STs to 10 per cent from 6 per cent, and left the onus of honouring it on the central government.

While addressing a huge public meeting 'Telangana Adivasi Girijan Atmagaurav Sabha' at NTR stadium on Saturday, Rao seemed to be on poll mode as he also announced title deeds to Podu lands, increasing in residential hostels for STs and implement the 'Girijana Bandhu' scheme to benefit the tribals.

"Tamil Nadu government is implementing 69 per cent reservations. The Centre is also implementing EWS reservations taking the total reservations beyond 50 per cent by including it in the Seventh Schedule of the Constitution," the CM said.

"I am asking PM Narendra Modi and Union Minister Amit Shah who is in the city to indulge in divisive politics: What is stopping you from giving assent to the Bill passed by the state assembly," Rao said.

Lambasting the Centre for its policies, Rao said that the BJP government has been giving public assets worth huge sums to a few individuals for free. "I appeal to the people of Telangana not to be worried about the horrendous situation created by the central government but they should be vigilant," he said.

During his address after hoisting the national flag as part of Telangana Jateeya Samaikyata Dinostavam (Telangana National Integration Day) at Public Gardens, Rao on Saturday said that the "communal elements" which have no role in the integration of Hyderabad State are trying to split Telangana society.

Appealing the people to be alert, he said, "Telangana itself is an example of what happens if the people are unmindful. Telangana has lived a cursed life for 58 years due to a mistake in the past (formation of Andhra Pradesh State on linguistic basis)," he said, adding that people had to sacrifice lives and languish in jails to achieve a separate statehood.

Shah: Rid minds of Razakars fear

Union Home Minister Amit Shah at the Parade Grounds in Secunderabad on Saturday | VINAY MADAPU

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

CASTIGATING those not observing September 17 as Telangana Liberation Day, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Saturday, in an indirect reference to AIMIM, exhorted them to dispel the fear of the Razakars from their minds.

Addressing the gathering at the Parade Grounds marking the 74th anniversary of the Hyderabad state's accession to India, he said that after 75 years of Independence, Razakars can no longer influence the decisions of the state, adding, "Those who are ashamed of observing September 17 as Liberation Day will remain traitors...to the cause of Telangana, for which thousands laid down their lives."

While the central government has called the event as Liberation Day, the state government is celebrating it as Telangana National Integration Day, and the Congress has called it Independence Day.

"Though they (referring to TRS chief K Chandrasekhar Rao) had promised during the Telangana movement to observe the day as Liberation Day, they took a U-turn after coming to power fearing the Razakars (MIM). I'm happy that after Modiji declared it an official event, everybody has decided to join the celebrations," he claimed, and added that if Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel had not ordered Operation Polo in 1948, Hyderabad's liberation would have been delayed many more years.

After hoisting the national flag at the Parade Grounds, he received the Guard of Honour from 12 contingents of the CRPF and the CISF.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and Karnataka Transport Minister B Sriramulu were special guests at the event.

K'taka spotless, may not get cheetahs

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH cheetahs from Namibia landing in India, the apathy of Karnataka Forest Department officials and experts might deprive the state of the big cats, with Bannerghatta Biological Park (BBP) having to wait longer for cheetahs in zoo as BBP officials and Zoo Authority of Karnataka (ZAK) are expecting a successful breeding in Mysuru zoo. At present, the zoo has a male and two females, and while Hyderabad has a male.

"There is shortage in zoos around the world , so getting them to BBP is difficult. It has been in the list of wild animals to be procured for very long. We are hoping that after cheetahs in Mysuru zoo breed, BBP will be able to get them," a ZAK official said.

"In India, only Mysuru zoo has seen successful breeding, but they have died later. The present three were brought in 2019-20," said Mysuru zoo officials. Foresters and experts explained that the species brought to the Kuno National Park are not the Asiatic which thrive in the Indian subcontinent. "Karnataka forests, including grasslands and other patches, have also changed over the years. Human and wildlife population in and around the areas have changed, and introduction of a new species will not be possible. We cannot be experimenting, and should wait and see what happens to the big cats in Kuno," a senior forest department official said. Experts are also of the same opinion, and stated that regions here are now home to lions, tigers and leopards, and this new experiment could be detrimental.

Pinarayi-Bommai meet today on extending SilverLine

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @T'Puram

CHIEF Minister Pinarayi Vijayan will hold discussions with his Karnataka counterpart Basavaraj Bommai in Bengaluru on Sunday mainly on extending the SilverLine project to Mangaluru. The development of Nilambur-Nanjangud railway stretch and Thalassery-Mysuru highway will be taken up at the meeting slated to begin at 9.30am.

At the recent meeting of South Zone Council, the two states had reached an understanding on the SilverLine project being extended till Mangaluru. It was at this meeting held in Kovalam in Thiruvananthapuram under the aegis of Union Home Minister Amit Shah that the state government had sought Karnataka's support. Tamil Nadu also sought a high-speed rail corridor.

The Centre has been sitting on the state government's request for approval for the SilverLine semi high-speed rail project originally planned up to Kasaragod.

Though extending the SilverLine was discussed during the South Zone Council meeting, it was decided the two CMs will first hold talks before taking a decision. The state government has since given the detailed project report to the Karnataka government. The Karnataka government's decision is going to be crucial for the LDF government's flagship project.

District Minister S T Somashekhar, MLAs and Deputy Commissioner Dr Bagadi Gautham at the KDP meeting in Mysuru on Saturday | UDAYASHANKAR S

Deputy Commissioner Bagadi Gautham intervened and directed officials to conduct a survey of the roads and submit a report in a week to take up repair works. However, when Devegowda asked the DC to issue notices to contractors who fail to take up repair work and blacklist them, Somashekar remarked that if PWD officials had made contractors work properly, the government would not have faced 40 per cent commission charges.

'Houses demolished for ex-gratia'

While speaking on providing compensation for the damage to the properties due to rain, Somashekar said he has received several complaints regarding political leaders instigating people to pull down their houses to claim ₹5 lakh compensation for rain damages. "This act is denying compensation to genuine people who lost their houses in the rain and floods. Officials must conduct inspection of every damaged house and ensure compensation only to genuine victims," he said.

However, the minister's did not go down well with MLA K Mahadevu who said people will not demolish their houses for compensation. "Complaints will be made with malicious intentions. Give compensation as per the rules," he said. Surprised by MLA's reaction, Somashekar said he is not blaming Mahadevu or any other MLA, but made it on complaints he got.

Don't try to intimidate us: CPM tells Governor

T'Puram: Taking a cue from the chief minister, the CPM leadership has now opted for an open confrontation with the governor. Accusing the governor of running a deliberate campaign against the state government, CPM state secretary M V Govindan urged the governor to behave in a way that befits his office. The governor should perform his duties as per constitutional demands, opined the CPM leadership. Addressing a press conference here, Govindan said the governor's behaviour lacked either balance or composure. The governor who has a responsibility to act constitutionally has chosen to ignore facts. Making it amply clear that the Left would not tolerate such attacks from the governor anymore, Govindan said the governor need not try to intimidate the LDF government.

BOLLYWOOD'S HITS AND FLOPS, AND THE ROAD AHEAD

Consulting Editor, The New Indian Express

THE Ranbir Kapoor-Alia Bhatt multi-starrer Brahmastra Part One: Shiva was declared a flop before it opened in cinemas on September 9. "Brahmastra is a king-sized disappointment. High on VFX, low on content. ... Brahmastra could've been a game changer, but, alas, it's a missed opportunity ... All gloss, no soul," vintage movie critic Taran Adarsh said.

Audiences, on the other hand, gave the fantasy movie a big thumbs up. The film defied boycott calls, generating ₹220 crore at the box office in the first week. Besides proving his critics wrong, writer-director Ayan Mukerji reversed the perception that Bollywood—the Mumbai-based Hindi film industry—was on its way out. A string of failures, like Aamir Khan's Laal Singh Chaddha and Akshay Kumar's Raksha Bandhan in August, had shaken the industry. Add to that the sustained boycott campaign that seemed to have 'official' support.

Bollywood is not new to trolling and hate campaigns. What is new, is the focused and vicious attacks on the big stars. Someone dug up Ranbir Kapoor's past that he had supported beef-eating, and a campaign ensued to prevent him and Alia from entering an Ujjain temple.

At a broader level, there has been a sustained bid to paint Bollywood a den of drug users. The unfortunate death by suicide of the young actor, Sushant Singh Rajput, in June 2020, was investigated as a case of abetment involving drugs. Actor Kangana Ranaut added to the shrill accusations.

The drama was extended when Aryan Khan, Shah Rukh's son, was arrested last October by the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) for possessing banned substances. Both investigations have come to naught. It proved that the crime agencies had pursued leads that were little more than red herring.

But back to basics. It's an old adage: There is no formula for a successful film, but nothing can take away from a story well told. Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Padmaavat in 2018, and the edgy film Lipstick Under My Burkha in 2017, which explored female sexuality, faced boycott campaigns but came out flying. If Laal Singh Chaddha crashed out, it was because the Forrest Gump remake was too meandering. The informal filmgoers' grapevine is what decides the fate of a film; inspired boycott calls have little impact.

Beyond this controversy, where is Bollywood heading? Trade sites show that of the 30–32 big titles released in calendar 2022, only five or six have made it— The Kashmir Files, RRR, K.G.F: Chapter 2, Bhool Bhulaiya 2, and now, Brahmastra. The rest have been 'flops'. That means 80% of the releases this year have failed to recover less than half their investments. This is a dismal showing compared to pre-Covid 2019 when about 40% of the releases performed well.

The pandemic has taken a heavy toll. According to a PwC report, compared to the 1.9 billion cinema tickets sold in pre-pandemic 2019, just about 379 million were sold in 2021—a drop of 85%! Market data firm Statista shows the industry's revenues stagnating at ₹18,200 crore for FY 2023, a notch lower than pre-pandemic FY2020's ₹18,300 crore.

Two main factors have crimped Bollywood's bid to shake off the Covid paralysis. One is lacklustre content, and the other is the change in the watching habits of audiences. That movie studios fancied the fan-following of superstars was enough to get entertainment-hungry crowds to the cinema. But that did not work. Star-heavy films like Ranveer Singh's 83 and Jayeshbhai Jordaar, Akshay Kumar's Samrat Prithviraj and Kangana Ranaut's Dhaakad all fell by the wayside.

For the industry, it has been the Kannada and Telugu originals that have saved the day. RRR, a Telugu original directed by S S Rajamouli, generated ₹1,144 crore. K.G.F: Chapter 2, originally in Kannada, starring actors Sanjay Dutt and Raveena Tandon, with the blood-soaked Kolar Gold Fields and Rocky the Assassin providing the action, piled up ₹1,200 crore.

Epic battles of justice in slow motion, combined with high-octane drama, big sets and good music, rocked audiences across the country and breathed new life into mass entertainment.

Meanwhile, the pandemic that locked up people at home changed viewing habits. Streaming platforms—also known as over-the-top (OTT) services—saw a surge in subscriptions during the two-year lockdown. Netflix, Prime Video, Zee5, and SonyLiv have grown popular, streaming not only movies but popular series and live sports action.

There are many entertainment options now, and the quality of international, dubbed content has created new standards. Besides, entertainment is no more just the dinner-popcorn-multiplex-movie outing. The couch potato has been reinvented. Fearful of contracting Covid-19, the filmgoer sticks at home and prefers to play with the multiple options his remotes offer.

Yet the power of the Big Spectacle on the Big Screen can never be underestimated. Audiences yearn to live the dream in a big theatre, and Bollywood can cash in if it gets its script right. Much lip service is paid to the importance of storytelling, but filmmakers spend over 50% of their budgets on star fees and 35% on marketing, leaving very little for story and research. It's time they got the ratio right.

CHARITY begins at home. The sequitur would be that prosperity prospers at home. Ever since Narendra Modi became prime minister in May 2014, Gujarat has been the recipient of government largesse. A state that had acquired jaundiced notoriety after communal riots in 2002 is now a riot of richness as India's favourite Investment destination. Last week, news broke that the largest ever investment in recent times would go to Gujarat, and not Maharashtra as was previously believed—₹1.54 lakh crore by Vedanta Ltd and Taiwan's Foxconn to set up a semiconductor project in Gujarat. But is Gujarat's highly publicised prosperity a sign of Modi's favouritism? Or does history hold hidden lessons lost in the syllabus of post-Independence positioning that favoured northern and central Indian provinces where the Mughal-colonial shadow fell the darkest? Modern Gujarat, created only in 1960 along linguistic lines after its neighbour Maharashtra was carved out of Bombay State, was championed by Sardar Patel's close associate K M Munshi, without whose ardent arguments it would not have been what it is today—a region that regained pride in Gujarati identity. Synthesising its cultural unity with political reality visualised by the Chalukyas, who ruled for over 600 years, Munshi saw his state as connoting "the much larger linguistic zone in which the language known as modern Gujarati is spoken at the present time".

Like much of India, the historical alterations to Gujarat's archetypal Hindu society, which was diluted by both Islamic invaders and colonial powers that profited from the region's vast riches, fueled Munshi's appeal for Gujarati cultural Renaissance—which Modi now perceives as the bedrock of India's Economic Renaissance. Lusted after by Muslim transgressors from Mahmoud Ghazni in 1026, who looted the riches of Somnath Temple, to Portuguese and British traders who profited from Surat's vibrant commercial ethos, the birth of contemporary Gujarati is a revenge against the invaders: its foundation was laid in Somnath, arguably the most famous plunder by an Islamic tyrant. Modi's munificence towards his home state is merely an extension of the restoration of his state's past glory, for the prime minister lives in the future where the past is a marker for course correction.

That Gujarat comes before Maharashtra in the national anthem could be a phonetic coincidence, but for Modi, the Vedanta-Foxconn MoU "is an important step in accelerating India's semiconductor manufacturing ambitions. The investment of ₹1.54 lakh crore will create a significant impact to boost economy and jobs", said his tweet. Amit Shah's blue bird chirped, "...Bhupendra Patel has shown how development work can be done without speaking. In this one year, Gujarat has reached new heights." In a state going to the polls later this year, Patel will be leading the BJP's push to stay in power, beating 22 years of anti-incumbency. The results will be as much an endorsement for Gujarat's most famous son of the century as it is for his party.

But under fire was Vedanta group's Chairman Anil Aggarwal, who reasoned that he had no say at all in choosing Gujarat—a telling statement for a billionaire considered close to Sharad Pawar. His fall guy was Foxconn. But this feeble defence found few takers. In the current power structure, Indian corporates need a safe investment haven—and Gujarat is their heaven. Unapologetic about promoting his home state, unlike other prime ministers before him, the pro business, tech savvy Modi is emotionally, culturally and politically connected with his janmabhumi and karmabhumi. During the past three years, he visited Gujarat 25 times and spent 36 days there. But he hasn't ignored Uttar Pradesh either, which has elected him twice from Varanasi and sent over 70 BJP MPs to the Lok Sabha simultaneously. He made 67 visits to UP, where he spent a total 78 days. It is another state that gets maximum Central support. Modi is clear that he owes his rise to both states and isn't deterred by criticism of regional favouritism. When once G stood for the Gandhis, now it exemplifies Gujarat; most sensitive posts are headed by the Gujarat cadre or Gujarati officials. Major government projects have gone to people with the G-connection for building vistas and edifices of political and cultural importance that would be the legacy of ModiRaj for future centuries.

Modi became the maxim and maximum thanks to his longest tenure as the state's historic helmsman. Gujarat, where development and communal calamities became identifiable tropes, catapulted him to the national level. Of its 21 chief ministers since its inception, Modi ruled for an uninterrupted 12 years, from October 2001 to May 2014. Ironically the past eight years have seen four CMs in Gandhinagar. Modi is a prime minister with a difference who champions his roots as no other predecessor has. Only Indira Gandhi beats his record by enjoying 17 years in office, but Modi has a long way to go. Jawaharlal Nehru, too, was PM for 17 years. Between father, daughter and her son Rajiv Gandhi, the Family ruled the country and the Congress for over four decades. They were all elected from Uttar Pradesh. But the state only gained notoriety for its BIMARU status. Blighted by backwardness, the constituencies that represented not just the Nehru-Gandhis but PMs like Charan Singh and Chandra Shekhar are still struggling to overcome underdevelopment. India's largest state's growth rate remained far below the national average for almost six decades. It was only after Modi that UP got a facial. Indian PMs, banking on the complacency of their national status as a favour to their constituents, have been notoriously negligent towards the states of their birth and belonging. Narasimha Rao, a former Andhra CM, rarely supported his state. The architect of economic reform's prosperity, Manmohan Singh, wasn't the fiduciary of Assam, which sent him to the Rajya Sabha thrice. Even long-surviving CMs like Jyoti Basu preferred to bask in their charisma than improve their states' fortunes. Even Morarji Desai, India's first Gujarati PM, never scored a home run. The only exception is Odisha's Naveen Patnaik, who has pulled his state out of the poverty zone to turn it into one of the best governed states in the country.

Modi has ensured that the banks of Sabarmati should midwife the new India Growth Story. His ministers officially visit Gujarat more frequently than any other state, including the ones which elected them. Gujarat accounts for about 10 per cent of the GDP with just less than five per cent of India's population. It has been developing faster than the rest of the country even before BJP came to power in 1995. Under Modi, it became a single window clearance centre for investment. Its USP was that Team Modi delivered the sanction letter to a potential investor before he or she left the state after submitting formal proposals. Modi loves big numbers. The world's biggest statue—Sardar Patel's—is in Gujarat. Modi brought Narmada water to Gujarat. His dream now is to make Gujarat the global model of good governance. It's currently number three in FDI and GDP growth—the PM wants it to be Numero Uno. Modi has fully understood the power and fear of the prime minister's chair. Stakeholders who abhorred him with a vengeance before now adore him with reverence. For Modi, clarity begins at home.

PANDAVAS IN KALACHURI ART OF CHHATTISGARH

Founder of Puratattva, a documentation of heritage sites

THE Chhattisgarh region is traditionally connected with various episodes of the Mahabharata. The Bastar region was known as Mahakantara during this period. The Lakshagraha (house of lac) where the Kauravas planned the Pandavas' assassination was apparently situated here. After the Mahabharata war, the Pandavas' successors occupied the Chhattisgarh region. Sirpur, an important ancient archaeological site, is believed to have been the capital of Bhabrubahana, Arjuna's son with Chitrangada. The Panduvamshi dynasties of Mekala and Kosala that ruled the region during the sixth-eighth century CE claim their descent from the Pandavas.

The depiction of the Pandavas and the Mahabharata scenes are not very frequent in Indian art. Whereas several places across India are associated with the Mahabharata, there is a lack of tangible evidence to confirm whether these associations are recent fabrications or part of the tradition in early and medieval Indian history. We are fortunate to have some evidence from Chhattisgarh suggesting that the association of the region with the Mahabharata was also in vogue during the medieval period.

A few temples constructed during the Kalachuri period of the 11th-13th century CE are decorated with friezes depicting the Pandavas worshipping a Shivalinga. The Deur Shiva temple in Gandai village of Rajanandgaon district was built during the 12th-13th century CE. A lintel panel above the garbha-griha doorway has Nandi over a pedestal in the middle of the panel. Behind the Nandi emerges a linga. Worshipping it are two acharyas, standing on either side. Three figures stand to left side of the linga: Dharmaraja Yudhishthira holding a flower, Bhima holding his gada (club), and Arjuna holding his bow and arrow. On the right stand four figures: Nakula and Sahadeva holding shields, Kunti and Draupadi. They have label inscriptions – the names of the Pandavas-- engraved below, leaving no doubt about their identity.

The Sita Devi temple at Deorbija in the Durg district also carries a similar door lintel. Sitting without a pedestal, Nandi is placed in the middle of the lintel. Behind and above Nandi emerges a linga. On the right of it are shown seven figures, the five Pandava brothers with Kunti and Draupadi. On Nandi's left are ten figures, one priest and navagrahas (nine planets). The Pandava brothers are shown carrying their respective weapons.

While the Gandai and Deorbija temples depict the Pandavas in the prominent lintel space, a few other temples place them in less prominent places. The Vishnu Temple at Jangir in the Janjgir-Champa district has a frieze panel embedded in its platform depicting the three Pandava brothers worshipping a linga. Dharmaraja holding a flower, Bhima holding a gada, and Arjuna holding a bow and arrow are seen standing. A priest is also standing, officiating the worship. A similar panel, however, smaller in size than the above, is found over the door jambs embedded in the Ratanpur Fort. Around the panel are distributed six figures, three on each side. One cannot be certain of the identity of these due to the dire state of the panel, but they could be the Pandavas.

Worshipping Nandi with a linga was certainly a prominent decoration element during the late Kalachuri period. However, did it also serve some political narrative or indicate a specific episode from the Mahabharata? As Kunti is shown in the panels along with the Pandava brothers, we can rule out this episode happening during their exile or the Himalayan journey after the war as, on both occasions, Kunti did not accompany them. The forest environs of the Gandai panel suggest this event took place in a forest. One possibility could be that this episode occurred after the Pandavas escaped from the Lakshagraha and hid in a forest in Bastar. In this regard, we can also consider local legends that the episode of Bhima's marriage with Hidimba happened at Bhimkhoj (Khallari) in Chhattisgarh. Thus, the presence of the Pandavas and these legends are reminiscent of traditions prevalent in the late Kalachuri period.

Sports superpower

Apropos the edit 'India Bid Under Modi To Become Sports Superpower' by P V Sindhu (17 Sept). Playing and watching sports are great stress boosters as they are good for a healthy life. PM Modi's encouragement to players encourages players to give their best and tell the whole world where India stands in terms of sports. Under Modi's rule, there are many developments in sports such as good and high-quality grounds, scholarships and government jobs.

Avoidable spat

It is unfortunate that the governor and chief minister of Kerala are engaged in a mudslinging spree over some minor issues mainly on the alleged irregular appointment of a relative of the CM's personal staff as an Associate Professor at Kannur University (Sept 17). In order to avoid a situation which may snowball into a major constitutional crisis, it is felt that both personalities should sit together and sort out their differences amicably.

Breakfast scheme

The free breakfast scheme launched by TN CM M K Stalin in government primary schools (September 16) is a fitting tribute to Ramalinga Adigal alias Vallalar, especially, in the saint's 200th birth centenary year. The 18th-century saint had utmost compassion for all living beings, including plants and animals, and insisted on feeding the poor as a prerequisite for one's spiritual progress.

Other states must emulate

The breakfast scheme rolled out by the Tamil Nadu government for primary school children is commendable. Hunger should never hamper children from unleashing their potential. This scheme will improve attendance and will enhance the learning capability of the children. The CM has also articulated that it is neither a freebie nor a gift and it is the duty and responsibility of the government. The state must ensure that nutritional standards are not compromised at any cost. Tamil Nadu has always been a pioneer in social welfare measures and I hope this exemplary scheme will inspire other states to transcend political and ideological differences and emulate it.

Quality of food

The breakfast scheme for students of Classes I to V launched by Chief Minister M K Stalin is not only a novel one but also the first in the country. It was indeed nice to see the Chief Minister joining the students in having breakfast and also fed them with fatherly affection. The new scheme no doubt is most required particularly for the poor and the needy most of whom attend classes without having any food in the morning and remain hungry till they get the mid-day meals. All efforts should be taken by the authorities to see that the quality of the food is maintained and the food is prepared and served under hygienic conditions.

Poll politics

Apropos of the column Delhi Liquor Row Finds Echo in Gujarat campaign (Sep 17) it is true that every political party will not leave any stone unturned to turn everything in favour of them. It is not surprising that the same is being played out between the two parties in Gujarat now. It will continue till the election in Gujarat is over. Otherwise, hy can't CBI arrest the concerned in spite of ample evidence they have collected as reported?

Railways plans to link 132 disconnected dists

Detail Project Report being prepared to find those districts that have not yet been shown on rail map

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE Indian Railways has decided to link those district headquarter towns in the country that were still not on rail map. The Railways will conduct a study to include them in the rail map to connect them to the rest of India. Earlier, the Niti Aayog had also suggested that the Indian Railways should prepare a plan on the line of Pradhan Mantri Gramin Sadak Yojna and the National Highway Development Programme (NHDP) to link districts which are still not on rail map.

Union Railways Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw sharing this at a program in Bhubneshwar on Thursday said that the railways is working on the project to identify the district headquarters towns which are still not on rail map in the country. The railways has also prepared a satellite map to identify such district headquarters towns.

Through the satellite mapping, the Railways is learnt to have identified 132 district headquarter towns that need to be on the rail map. Sources in the Railways Ministry hinted that most of such district headquarter towns that have been identified are from Northeast and South Indian region besides other parts of country. "A Detail Project Report (DPR) is being prepared by the Railways for bringing the identified 132 district headquarters towns on rail map," a source said.

Citing some example, a railways source said: "There are many district headquarters in towns like Idukki and Wayanad in Kerala, Dhar, Khargone and Barwani in tribal dominated Madhya Pradesh districts, which are still not on rail map."

Wayanad is the parliamentary constituency of Congress leader Rahul Gandhi and the closet railways station to this district headquarter is Kozhikode which is about 110 km away. Similarly, Madikeri, the district headquarters of Karnataka's Kodagu district, is still not on rail map like many other district headquarter towns in the country. Its nearest railways station is Mysore that is about 95 km away and Kannur in Kerala that is about 79 km away.

"With the successful execution of this work plan, the number of railways stations will certainly increase from 7,349 to more than 7400 in the country the number of passengers travelling daily will also get a boost giving a rise in revenue from passenger services to the national transporters," said a source in the Ministry.

GAUTAM ADANI

FIRST GEN BIZMAN WHO ROSE TO GLOBAL RANKS

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

SOURAV ROY

GAUTAM Adani is not the most revered businessman back home, but that hasn't stopped him from rising to the top of the global richest chart — he is the second wealthiest person (with $147 billion net worth) on earth. For a first-generation self-made billionaire, this is no mean feat. Adani's ascent to the top of the global business scene is stellar, to say the least. From a humble beginning as a commodity trader in the 1980s, Adani scripted an uncanny success story over the past three decades using his vision, grit and risk-taking abilities.

Notwithstanding the allegations of his closeness to power, and the alleged favours he garnered from those in power, Adani charted a path of success that's an object of envy and debate, alike. Not the most 'expressive' business leaders (at least publicly), Adani's aggressive expansion of his business empire defies his otherwise calm demeanour.

Adani Enterprises, the umbrella company that holds several of his diversified businesses, was started as a commodity trading company in 1988. He got it listed in 1994 at ₹150 with the shares getting subscribed 25 times — two years ago Infosys had gotten listed at 145 a share. Within a short span of six to seven years, Gautam Adani was running ports, FMCG, mineral & mines businesses.

His success was already getting attention, but not all the right kind. In 1997, he was kidnapped for ransom in Ahmedabad allegedly by two underworld dons, who were later acquitted by the court in want of evidence.

With the turn of the century, as India was emerging as an economic powerhouse, Indian businesses were growing ambitious and impatient. Adani, after having tasted success in his multiple ventures in a short span of time, was ready for the next big leap. So, he went shopping overseas and bought coal mines in Indonesia and the now controversial (Carmichael Mines) in Australia.

He has the knack of finding himself in the midst of action – sometime unwanted as in 2008, when he got stuck in the iconic Taj hotel during the terrorist attack on the fateful night of 26 November. In his own words he witnessed death from a distance of 15 feet. But Adani has managed to wade through personal and professional roadblocks – many of his projects in Indian and overseas have met with protests, legal challenges and also financing issues.

Yet Adani has managed to 'incubate' multiple businesses covering a large number of sectors from mines and mineral, power, port to FMCG. And he keeps adding to the portfolio more businesses. So, he added airports, cement, data centres as well as green energy to the bouquet.

NEWSMAKER

The combined market cap of his group companies now exceeds $200 billion or around ₹16 lakh crore — apparently now more than that of the Tata Group, which has been around for over 150 years. In his message to investors in the annual report of Adani Enterprises this year, Gautam Adani had said quoting Winston Churchill, 'Success is not final". This aptly describes Adani's quest for new glories, and his urge to own newer businesses and establish them as the leader in their respective sectors.

But his unhindered 'success' has raised eyebrows. Half of his wealth (of $147 billion) has come in 2022 alone on the back of, what many analysts say, logic-defying valuations of some of his listed companies — Adani Enterprises, for example, is trading at 422 times 12-month trailing earnings compared to say Reliance Industries, which is trading at 26 times earnings. The burgeoning debt of the group (at ₹2.6 lakh crore) is also the talk of the town now. Many find it unsustainable in the long run.

Guvs should work in tandem with state governments: Malik

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

GOVERNORS should work independently and free of politics, said Meghalaya Governor Satya Pal Malik. Referring to the tussle between Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan and Governor Arif Mohammad Khan, Malik, in an interview with this newspaper, said that both the governor and the state should work in harmony. "Governors should be impartial and do the right thing, come what may," said Malik.

During my stint in Goa, I refused to keep quiet on the corrupt practices of the Pramod Savant government. Though I informed the Central government, no action has been taken against him.

SATYA PAL MALIK, Meghalaya governor

The Kerala government and Governor were at loggerheads over issues such as Khan's statement on alleged nepotism in appointments in the state universities and over two bills –University Laws Amendment Bill and the Lok Pal Bill, which was passed by the Assembly recently. While the CM accuses the Governor of infringing on the affairs of the executive, the Governor claims that the government is trying to curtail his powers. The sparring between the two sides has also sparked debates on the wider legal, constitutional and political implications.

"In this dispute, the constitutional position will prevail. If the governor is right, his stand will prevail or if the CM is correct in his position, he will win," said Malik.

The Meghalaya Governor also said that unfortunately, some Governors have misused the position and have become party to horse trading and toppling of state governments. "Recently, in some states, governors have colluded with the BJP to topple state governments. That's wrong on their part," said Malik. Malik, whose term will end in two weeks, said that he has never faced any pressure from the Centre to act in their favour against state governments. On several occasions, Malik was in the eye of a storm for his criticism against the BJP government. He has held governor posts in Bihar, Jammu and Kashmir and Goa before taking charge in Meghalaya. "During my stint in Goa, I refused to keep quiet on the corrupt practices of the Pramod Savant government. Though I informed the Central government, no action has been taken against him and finally, I was transferred to Meghalaya," he said.

SC grants Centre time to implement OROP till Dec

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

AFTER being told that Centre is taking earnest steps to comply with SC's one rank one pension (OROP) order which requires approval of Cabinet, the bench of Justice DY Chandrachud and Hima Kohli on Friday allowed centre to implement the one rank one pension scheme for defense forces till December. "The time period of three months which was fixed in the judgement of this Court dated March 16, 2022 is extended by a period of three moments from today," the court said in its order.

On March 16, 2022 a bench led by Justices DY Chandrachud while reaffirming the Centre's OROP scheme for ex-servicemen, said that it did not find any constitutional infirmity on the OROP principle and the notification dated November 7, 2015 issued by the Union. As per the notification, the centre while implementing OROP had adopted a modified definition of the expression under which the gap between the rates of pension of current and past pensioners were to be bridged at "periodic intervals."

The court had also directed centre to carry out the re fixation exercise from July 1, 2019 upon the expiry of five years in terms of the notification dated November 7. It had asked centre to compute and pay the arrears payable to all eligible pensioners of the armed forces within 3 months.

"We must remember that (judicial) adjudication isn't a right recourse in policy matters. This is not to say that this court will be shy in setting aside the policy when found in violation of fundamental rights. It is not a legal mandate that the person who held the same rank must have the same pension. Applying the above principle, we do not find any constitutional infirmity on the OROP principle and the notification dated November 7, 2015," the bench said. The court's order came in a petition filed by the Ex-Serviceman Movement seeking implementation of OROP in Defense Forces who had challenged the November 7, 2015 notification.

Disabled suffered multiple blows of Covid: Study

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

PERSONS with disability (PwD) not only faced difficulties in accessing emergency medical and rehabilitation services but underwent deep psychological traumas, disruption in their daily lives and loss of livelihood, said a first national-level study which evaluated the impact of Covid-19 and resulting lockdown on persons with disabilities (PwD) in India.

The study, carried out in 14 Indian states, was conducted by South Asia Centre for Disability and Inclusive Development and Research (SACDIR), Indian Institute of Public Health (IIPH), Hyderabad, said that parents with children were significantly impacted due to lockdown in the areas of medical, rehabilitation, education and mental health services.

"COVID-19 and the associated lockdown restrictions have negatively impacted persons with disabilities during the first wave in India. It is critical to mainstream disability within the agenda for health and development with pragmatic, context-specific strategies and programs in the country," the study said.

According to Prof GVS Murthy, director of the institute and the report's author, there is a lack of data to quantify the impact of the pandemic on PwD, who are more vulnerable and at higher risk from Covid-19.

Speaking with this newspaper, Murthy said that people with disabilities faced many challenges during the pandemic, not only in accessing healthcare, getting rehabilitation services, and social support but in education too.

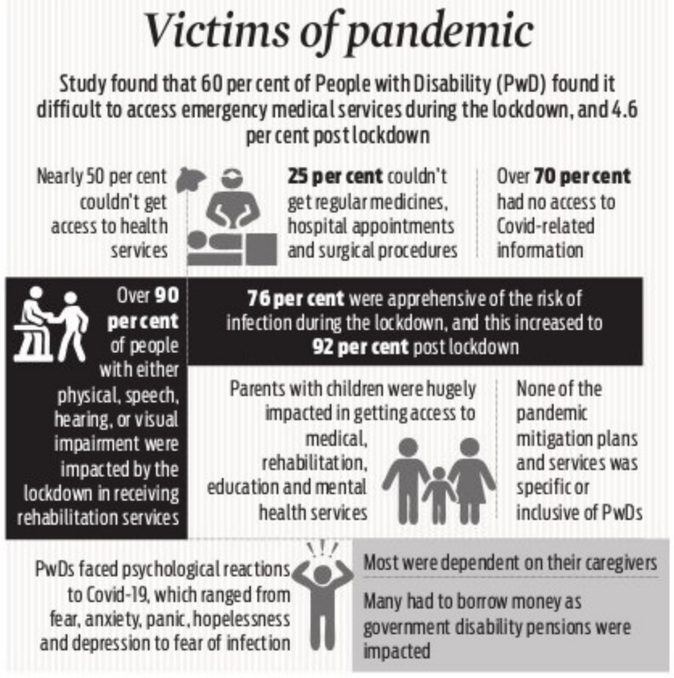
The study, published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health, said PwDs faced psychological reactions to Covid-19, which ranged from fear, anxiety, panic, hopelessness and depression to fear of infection. "This led to a feeling of stigma, discrimination, and isolation, combined with issues in relationships, abandonment, and violence," the report added.

The study found that about 60 percent of the PwDs found it challenging to access emergency medical services during the lockdown, and 4.6 percent post lockdown.

Nearly 50 per cent had problems getting health services, while more than 25 percent could not get regular medicines, hospital appointments and surgical procedures.

Over 70 per cent had no access to Covid-related information, which was worse for visually and deaf people.

"Most had no access to Covid information in the absence of communication and messages available in Barielle, sign language or lip reading. They didn't understand the messages on dos and don'ts of Covid-19 and were thus more vulnerable. Even using hand sanitiser as a safety measure was not clear to them," he said. More than 90 per cent of the participants with either physical, speech, hearing, or visual impairment were impacted by the lockdown in receiving rehabilitation services.



Patient Safety Day: WHO stresses on ending unsafe medication ways

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

ON World Patient Safety Day, the World Health Organisation (WHO) on Saturday highlighted the need to prevent avoidable harm in healthcare systems with a focus on ending unsafe medication practices and errors. In addition to causing significant disability and death, unsafe medication practices and errors cost an estimated USD 42 million annually.

In low-and middle-income countries, including in the WHO South-East Asia Region (SERO), patient harm due to unsafe care contributes to an estimated 134 million adverse events annually, resulting in around 2.6 million deaths, said WHO Regional Director for South-East Asia, Dr Poonam Khetrapal Singh.

Unsafe medication practices and errors can occur at different stages. It can result from weak medication systems or human factors such as fatigue, poor environmental conditions or staff shortages, she said.

Since 2015, the WHO SERO region has made targeted efforts to reduce unsafe medication practices and errors with a focus on addressing counterfeit and substandard products and enhancing patient safety and reporting systems, said a statement.

Specific region-wide attention is paid to reducing medication-related harm in elderly patient care, intensive care, highly specialised or surgical care, and emergency medicine.

WHO continues to support countries of the region to adopt a system-wide approach to promoting safe medication practices with a focus on several priorities.

This is done by supporting policymakers to establish patient safety incident reporting and learning systems. Second, by empowering healthcare leaders to develop standard operating procedures for safe medication use while increasing health worker training and adherence, she said.

Health workers are supported to stay up to date on safe medication practices. Also, both health professionals and patients are encouraged to be aware of and act on WHO's 'Know, Check, Ask' protocol which aims at increasing public awareness about the importance of using medication safely.

Bengal facing 'jungle, gunda raj', says BJP

A 5-member team to look into alleged assault on partymen during recent march

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A five-member team of the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) will look into the alleged assault on its supporters during the protest march in Kolkata four days ago.

The members of the panel, which has been constituted by the BJP's national president J P Nadda, visited the injured party workers admitted in a hospital on Saturday, and said, "West Bengal is going through jungle raj and gunda raj."

The members of the team also met the injured councillor of Kolkata Municipal Corporation, Meena Devi Purohit, who received injuries on her head during a police lathi charge.

The team comprises Rajya Sabha members Samir Oraon and former Uttar Pradesh DGP Brij Lal; Lok Sabha MPs Rajyavardhan Singh Rathore and Aparajita Sarangi; and Sunil Jakhar, a BJP leader from Punjab.

"Extortion by ruling party functionaries has become common in Bengal. Corruption and scams to the tune of several crores have already surfaced," Lal said, without mentioning the names of arrested former Trinamool Congress minister Partha Chatterjee and party's strongman Anubrata Mondal. Lal added that the people of Bengal are watching everything, and they will teach the ruling party a lesson in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

Oran said the police acted mercilessly on BJP supporters following an order from the higher authorities. The team, which landed in Kolkata on Friday evening, will submit a report to Nadda after returning Delhi on Sunday.

Referring to TMC's national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee's statement that he would have shot at the forehead of the attackers, Lal said, "This is nothing but a reflection of the arrogance of power."

Banerjee had made the remark a day after an assistant commissioner of police was assaulted during the protest march in which a pitched battle had broken out between the police and BJP supporters. "Had I been in the injured cop's place, I would have shot here," he had said, pointing at his forehead.

Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee too had said that the police remained tolerant during the event. The BJP had claimed that at least 200 of their supporters were injured due to police high-handedness, while the latter said 27 men in uniform were injured by the violent supporters of the saffron camp who pelted stones and bottles.

Lalbaugcha Raja gets 3kg gold, 14kg silver and ₹5cr

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

LALBAUGCHA Raja Ganesh Mandal – known for fulfilling every devotee's wish – received a whopping ₹5 crore in donations and proceeds from auctions in the last 10 days.

Of the total ₹5 crore received through the temple's donation box called Hudi, ₹1.3 crore were received from auctions participated by devotees.

Besides, a slew of precious items also made its way to the temple, including 3 kg of gold, a 1-kg golden idol of the Lalbaugcha Raja deity as well as 14 kg of silver ornaments.

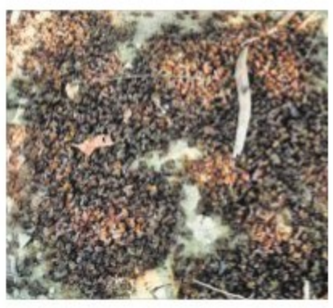
Sudhir Salvi, secretary, Lalbaugcha Raja Ganesh Mandal said, "The temple received golden modak weighing 1.25 kg and a motorcycle as donations. Besides, nearly 200 Ganesha devotees participated in the auctions where they bought various items."

This year, Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and his deputy Devendra Fadnavis, and Leader of Opposition Ajit Pawar, among others, visited Lalbaugcha Raja temple.

According to Salvi, the temple witnessed close to 35 lakh in footfall during this year's Ganesh Mahotsav owing to the post-pandemic rush. "More than 35 lakh of people came to take darshan of Lalbaugcha Raja this year. Many devotees also took darshan through the temple's website, Facebook and YouTube pages. We had also arranged for online puja facilities for Lalbaugcha Raja's devotees."

Use of pesticides killing 50% of honey bees in Punjab & Haryana: Experts

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh



PUNJAB, which is the third largest producer of honey in the country, is now facing a peculiar situation. For the first time, a large number of honey bees have died in Punjab and Haryana. Due to spray of pesticides on crops like cotton, bajra, paddy, summer moong, at least 50 per cent of honey bees have died in both states. This has resulted in farmers staring at heavy losses this season.

Progressive Bee Keepers Association adviser Narpinder Singh Dhaliwal said there are around 4,000 bee keepers in Punjab alone. Each keeper has around 300 to 400 colonies (boxes) and each colony has 20,000 bees. That means that a bee keeper has at least 60 lakh bees. Dhaliwal is also the leading bee keeper in Moga.

Dhaliwal said, "The bees have died on a large scale due to pesticide sprays in Punjab, Haryana and Rajasthan. The mortality rate of bees is between 25 and 90 per cent per beekeeper, depending upon his situation, thus on an average it is 50 per cent. While every year the bee mortality rate is between 10 to 15 per cent. Besides Punjab and Haryana, this time in Kota, Alwar and other districts of Rajasthan the mortality rate of bees was higher as in these bajra-growing regions pesticides were sprayed. Bees collect nectar from sunflowers and pollen from paddy and bajra. As per the data with National Bee Board Punjab produces 18,600 metric tonnes of honey every year and it is in third position in the country with Uttar Pradesh with around 25,000 MT and West Bengal 20,000 MT," he says.

"We know that bees are dying in the US and Europe due to use of pesticides. Sometimes pesticides are directly toxic to the bees in other cases they can basically reduce their immunity to diseases so they are adversely affected. So when bees die you can be sure there is wider impact on other beneficial insects or other animals," said Mark Davis, director Agriculture and Regulatory Outreach at the Centre for Pesticide and Suicide Prevention, which is at the University of Edinburgh in UK.

While experts at the Indian Council of Agricultural Research and Punjab Agricultural University suspect that incidents of bee deaths were caused by insecticides and pesticides being used in bee flora of summer moong and paddy in both Punjab and Haryana and in sunflowers in Haryana and bajra in Rajasthan.

As farmers depend upon pesticides to save crops and beekeepers should plan bee box migration accordingly, said an expert.

Paper leak: Arunachal CM says guilty won't be spared

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

AN alleged leak of question paper for recruitment to the posts of assistant engineers (civil) has shaken the Arunachal Pradesh government. The exam was conducted by the Arunachal Pradesh Public Service Commission (APPSC) last month. Various organisations demanded the suspension of APPSC chairperson, secretary and other officials.

Two candidates had alleged the paper was leaked. After they moved the court seeking a stay in the declaration of the results, it directed the APPSC not to make any appointments. The court listed the case after four weeks. Altogether 415 candidates had appeared for 33 posts.

CM Pema Khandu has taken strong exception to the incident. Reiterating that the state government will not tolerate any kind of corruption, he warned that the guilty, irrespective of his or her position or status, would not be spared. "It is indeed frustrating that despite our sincerest efforts to streamline the recruitment process, incidents like this occur out of the blues. I assure the candidates and the people that action will be taken against the guilty and the point of leakage investigated and rectified so that it is not repeated," Khandu said.

Assuring that 'no one will be allowed to play with the future of youth', he said police were investigating the case and five persons were arrested. Investigation is still on, he said.

The CM sent out a stern warning to all, both government officials and private individuals, not to interfere in the recruitment process for personal gains. "I repeat, no form of corruption in any field will be tolerated," he added.

Khandu added that the state government was committed to strengthening the APPSC as well as the Arunachal Pradesh Staff Selection Board and making them robust and corruption-free.

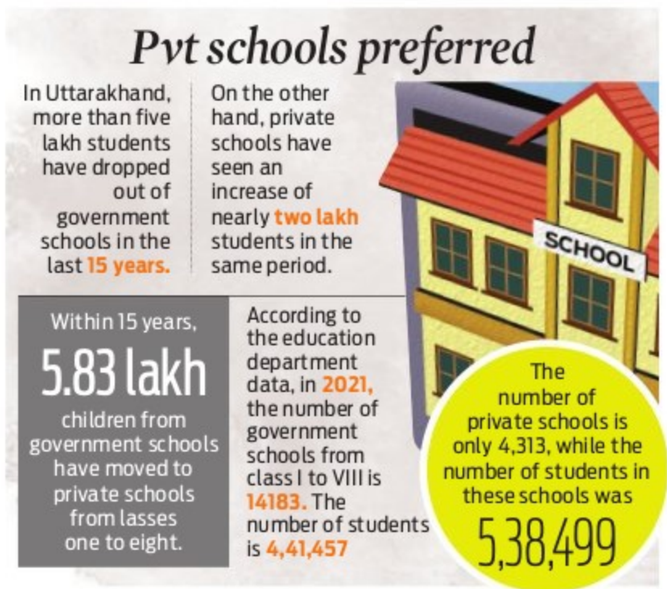
Changes in U'khand school syllabus soon

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun



THE Uttarakhand government has decided to drastically change the school curriculum for government schools. The new syllabus will include the state's rich cultural heritage, besides the state's political history.

The government wants to introduce the changes from the next academic session.

The government believes that the students have little knowledge about the state's 'who's who' under the National Council of Educational Research and Training (NCERT) syllabus. The new syllabus will have as much as 30% of the state's information.

A new syllabus for classes one to XII for government schools is being prepared under the recommendations of the National Education Policy (NEP), which is expected in November this year.

State education minister Dr Dhan Singh Rawat has said the syllabus will be finalized within the coming one-and-a-half months. Currently, the NCERT syllabus is applicable in the state. Information about the state is negligible as NCERT books are in the national perspective.

The Education Minister said a pool of teachers from Uttarakhand Board, CBSE and ICSE will help suggest a better educational environment to students.

"Teachers will be available in each other's board. Eminent scientist K Kasturirangan has been invited to visit the state," said the Education Minister.

Secretary (education) R Meenakshi Sundaram told TNIE that the arrangement has given the state an opportunity to include local celebrities in the curriculum. "Senior officials of the education department and experts are jointly preparing and compiling this state-level curriculum. It will soon be sent to the Central government for approval," he said.

The government will focus on developing intellectual capacity development, management and administrative capabilities of state teachers. At least 1,000 teachers of the state will get special training in the National Institute of Science, sources said.

Meanwhile, more than five lakh students have dropped out of government schools in the last 15 years. The continuous decline in the number of students in government schools has added to the woes of the education department.

On the other hand, private schools have seen an increase of nearly two lakh students in the same period.

According to the education department data, in 2021, the number of government schools from class one to eight is 14183. The number of students is 4,41,457. The number of private schools is only 4,313, while the number of students in these schools was 5,38,499.

The number of students in government schools has dropped by more than three times. Education Minister Dr Dhan Singh Rawat says efforts were on for quality education in the state. Infrastructure facilities such as buildings, classrooms and furniture are being spruced up in government schools.

The Minister said the ratio of the number of teachers to students in the state is good. "After the implementation of the new education policy, government schools will see a qualitative improvement. We expect an increase in the number of students in government schools," he said.

Comparative figures of government and government-aided secondary schools have also become a headache for department officials. Their number in the state is 2,718. The number of students studying in these is 5,51,977. In comparison, the number of students in 1,083 private schools is 6,53,996.

Educationist Sujata Paul says the challenge before the government getting bigger. "Previous governments focused on increasing the number of schools. However, the attitude towards the quality of education was lackadaisical. Interest in government schools is declining not among parents but also students who prefer quality in a competitive environment," says Paul.

Within 15 years, 5.83 lakh children from government schools have moved to private schools from classes one to eight.

1,000 TEACHERS TO GET SPL TRAINING

The government will focus on developing intellectual capacity development, management and administrative capabilities of state teachers. At least 1,000 teachers of the state will get special training in the National Institute of Science, sources said. State education minister Dr Dhan Singh Rawat has said the syllabus will be finalized within the coming one-and-a-half months. The Education Minister said a pool of teachers from Uttarakhand Board, CBSE and ICSE will help suggest a better educational environment to students. The new syllabus will include the state's rich cultural heritage, besides the state's political history.

'Need for better nutrition info on packaged foods'

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmeddabad

SUGAR, salts and fat in packaged foods may be responsible for many health problems, and it is necessary to clearly mention the proportion of harmful elements in the packaging. Adqeuate nutrition information – with regard to chips, noodles, chocolates and icecream, etc – can make a difference over negative nutrition caused by such additives, cites country's nutrition monitor and doctors.

The Indian Institute of Public Health Gandhinagar (IIPHG) pointed out that 5.8 million Indians die every year from non-communicable diseases (NCDs) such as cancer, diabetes, uncontrolled hypertension, and cardiovascular diseases. Although hard to treat, many of these deadly diseases can be prevented with adequate information of harmful elements on food packaging. According to IIPHG, packaged foods besides being ultra-processed, are often high in harmful ingredients – sugar, salts, and bad fat. A front-of-package label (FOPL) that warns people about products high in these negative nutrients associated with the NCD burden in India, is the need of the hour, IIPHG advices. IIPHG's director Dr Dileep Mavalankar said India must adopt a front-of-package label (FOPL) for packaged foods that is 'best suited for its people'.

"Unhealthy diet is responsible for more deaths worldwide than any other risk factor and is a leading cause of obesity, type 2 diabetes, and cardiovascular disease," said Dr Bina Vadalia, assistant director, Department of Health & Family Welfare, Government of Gujarat. India's food and beverage industry are one of the world's largest with a sales volume of 34 million tons, the doctor said.

Studies have shown that in Indian households, children – both urban and rural – consume very high quantities of chips, instant noodles, chocolates, and icecream. Ultra-processed food and beverages which contain sugar, salt, and saturated fats much higher than the recommended thresholds, are making our children susceptible to NCDs at high rates. As recommended by science, we must ensure that all packaged food available in the market has cut-offs for harmful ingredients. On industrial interventions into this problem, a snack manufacturer from Gujarat, Satyen Shah said, "The packaged food industry which is growing at a record pace in India, is ready to play a proactive role in building a healthier food system for our country. I am optimistic that a strong FOPL will help us convey nutrition information to our consumers simply and effectively."

Kavita Sardana, advisor, Adani Foundation, said "If we are to safeguard the health of our youth and children, the time to fix the food system is now. FSSAI has initiated this very important process. We hope it can soon adopt a simple and interpretive FOPL that is consumer friendly."

AJINOMOTO CAN BE DETRIMENTAL TO HEALTH: ALLAHABAD SCIENTISTS

Lucknow: The lip-smacking Chinese dishes are a big hit among Indians of all ages and have been adequately Indianised in many ways but the taste enhancer – Aginomoto or Monosodium Glutamate (MSG), as it is chemically known – continues to be an essential ingredient of such Chinese cuisine. However, a few of us know that the chemical, which makes the Chinese dishes luscious to satiate the taste buds with its long lasting taste (umami) also triggers many medical conditions, including hypertension, cardiac issues and ageingat a faster rate, says a research conducted by scientists at the Bio-Chemistry department of Allahabad University . In a breakthrough research, published in 'Indian Journalof Clinical Biochemistry', the scientists working under Professor SI Rizvi have claimed that MSG, even in low quantity, could be detrimental to health. Namita Bajpai

CM Mann called back from Germany visit

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann who is in Germany – on an official visit to woo investors to Punjab – has cut short his days there to reach Delhi on Saturday. Now, the CM will attend a meeting – scheduled on Sunday – called by Delhi Chief Minister and National Convenor of Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) Arvind Kejriwal in presence of all 92 Punjab AAP MLAs, MPs and other leaders. Earlier, he was to come back on Monday, as the Chief Minister's Office made the changes in the tickets. Interestingly, it was this week when Mann's claim of carmaker luxury BMW setting up shop in Punjab had backfired. The BMW Group in India was swift to state that it has no plan as such.

Oppn leader leaves no chance to hit out at CM

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann continues his travails with AAP leaders Arvind Kejriwal and Manish Sisodia to poll-bound Himachal Pradesh and Haryana. To this, Leader of Opposition and senior Congress leader Partap Singh Bajwa hit out saying Mann has exploited the state to fulfil the wishes of his political masters. Mann joined the hubbub by issuing a statement from Germany that the BJP is trying to topple his government under the 'Operation Lotus'. The Congress leader even went on to say that Mann now resists Kejriwal's say in majority of issues pertaining to Punjab, and that this probably did not go down well with the latter.

As popularity dips, AAP MLAs told to go online

A few MLAs of ruling AAP got a survey done in their home constituencies to assess their popularity and to their surprise results were disappointing. Their graphs have dipped from where it was during the pre-election days in the state. Thus, to make amends the legislators have approached the party top brass in Delhi for a course correction to which they reportedly were told to use social media to lift their image. As per sources, they have been told to engage with the opposition leaders more often on social media.

World leaders arrive in UK to attend Queen's funeral

Public is braving waits that have stretched to more than 25 hours

LONDON

KING Charles III was due on Saturday to meet leaders from his new Commonwealth realms ahead of his mother's ornate funeral, after a security scare interrupted her sombre lying-in-state.

Those inside parliament's Westminster Hall for the lying-in-state received a shock late on Friday when a man burst out of the line and approached the coffin, which sits topped with the Imperial State Crown.

A live television feed of the mourners briefly cut away around 10:00 pm as police detained the man, two hours after Charles and his three siblings had held their own vigil in the cavernous hall. The King and his heir Prince William staged an unscheduled London walkabout to the delight of people queueing all night to see Queen Elizabeth's coffin, ahead of her grand state funeral.

Cries of "God save the king" came from the riverside crowd opposite parliament as the new monarch and his elder son thanked the well-wishers waiting patiently in line.

The queen's death on September 8 aged 96, after a record-breaking 70 years on the throne, has sparked an outpouring of emotion. Members of the public are braving waits that have stretched to more than 25 hours, and chilly night-time temperatures, to view her flag-shrouded coffin. Lines have snaked for miles along the River Thames.

Some 435 people have needed medical treatment, often for head injuries after fainting in the queue, the London Ambulance Service said.

Police are mounting Britain's biggest-ever security operation for Monday's funeral, as hundreds of dignitaries including US President Joe Biden are set to jet in.

Charles will meet on Saturday with the prime ministers of the Commonwealth realms —the 14 former colonies over which he now reigns in addition to the United Kingdom.

The ceremony will be attended by more than 2,000 guests, but leaders from countries at loggerheads with the UK such as Russia, Belarus and Afghanistan have not been invited. China's vice president Wang Qishan will attend, Beijing's foreign ministry confirmed, after a diplomatic spat saw Chinese officials barred from visiting the coffin

US President Joe Biden on Saturday headed to London to attend the funeral. On Sunday, Biden will attend a reception organised by King Charles III, the White House announced. The two men spoke by phone, with Biden vowing to preserve the "special relationship" between their countries. AFP

Queen's grandchildren mount vigil around coffin

Queen Elizabeth II's eight grandchildren mounted a vigil around her coffin on Saturday. William and his brother Prince Harry led the 15-minute vigil inside parliament's Westminster Hall which has hosted many mourners. The grandchildren, aged from 44 to 14, stood silently with their eyes lowered as members of the public filed past.

US media praises PM Modi for confronting Putin

MOSCOW

THE mainstream American media on Friday praised Prime Minister Narendra Modi for telling Russian President Vladimir Putin that this is not the time for war in Ukraine. The Modi-Putin conversation in Samarkand was widely carried by the mainstream American media.

"Modi rebukes Putin over war in Ukraine," The Washington Post reported in a headline. "In a stunning public rebuke, Modi told Putin: 'Today's era is not an era of war, and I have spoken to you on the phone about this," The Daily reported. "The rare reproach showed the 69-year-old Russian strongman coming under extraordinary pressure from all sides,' The Post said.

Responding to Modi, Putin said, "I know your position on the conflict in Ukraine, about your concerns that you constantly express. We will do our best to stop this as soon as possible. Only, unfortunately, the opposing side, the leadership of Ukraine, announced its abandonment of the negotiation process, declared that it wants to achieve its goals by military means, as they say, 'on the battlefield.' Nevertheless, we will always keep you informed of what is happening there."

It was the lead story on the webpage of both The Washington Post and The New York Times. "India's Leader Tells Putin That Now Is Not an Era for War,' The New York Times said in its headline. "The tone of the meeting was friendly, with both leaders referring to their long shared history," The Daily said. PTI

Vedanta's biz diversification with new foray

The Group, which is primarily into the mining sector, says this will be their first venture into a different sector

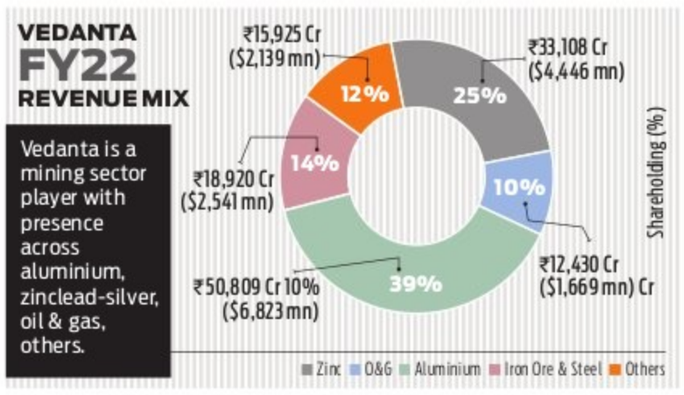
RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AMID the controversy around the last moment shift of its new semiconductor plant to Gujarat, what got lost in the commotion afterwards is the story of Vedanta's diversification plans.

Vedanta Group, which is primarily into mining sector, says this will be its first foray into a different sector.

Vedanta Ltd, a subsidiary of London-based Vedanta Resources, is one of the world's leading Oil and Gas and Metals companies with significant operations in Oil & Gas, Zinc, Lead, Silver, Copper, Iron Ore, Steel, and Aluminium and Power across India, South Africa and Namibia.

With this move, the conglomerate is on a way to diversify its portfolio from oil to metal into another strategically important sector – semiconductors.



Semiconductor foray

The mining giant, along with Taiwanese chip maker Foxconn, plans to invest ₹1.54 lakh crore to set up the semiconductor ecosystem in Gujarat.

According to the company, the proposed semiconductor manufacturing fab unit will operate on the 28nm technology nodes and the display manufacturing unit will produce Generation 8 displays catering to small, medium and large applications. Vedanta will hold 60% of the equity in the joint venture while Foxconn will own 40%.

The group said the project will see the light of day in next two years, and it is expected to generate one lakh employment for the country.

The new business, however, will be housed in Volcan Investments Limited, the holding company owned by Anil Agarwal's family trust.

"India's own Silicon Valley is a step closer now. India will fulfil the digital needs of not just her people, but also those from across the seas. The journey from being a Chip Taker to a Chip Maker has officially begun," Anil Agarwal said in a statement after making the announcement.

And while Agarwal's statement was full of patriotic fervour, he did not in as many words explain what made the company take a big leap into semiconductors business.

While investors gave a thumbs-up to the announcement with the stock of Vedanta Ltd rising by as much as 13% after the announcement, analysts and experts believe this can be a good move for the company as the Indian semiconductor market was valued at $27.2 billion in 2021 and is expected to grow at a healthy CAGR of nearly 19% to reach $64 billion in 2026.

Sunil Duggal, the chief executive officer of the company in an analysts' call in July end had tried explaining the company's interest in Semiconductor business.

"The government of India has made a policy that how they can support this (semiconductor) sector where this is also a very strategic sector for the country and the government is quite inclined to make this work in the country. That is why they have declared the new policy and even the state government, each of the state governments was quite excited about this," he had said answering an analyst's question.

The government has announced ₹76,000 crore production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme for semiconductors. Under the production-linked incentive (PLI) scheme, semiconductor units will be offered fiscal support as well as an incentive of 4-6% on net sales for 5 years (maximum of ₹30 crores per application). The company also announced that it would manufacture iPhones, TV equipment, and electric vehicles in Maharashtra.

"The company will make Maharashtra a manufacturing hub of iPhones, other television equipment and Electric Vehicles," said Anil Agarwal after the furore over the company's last moment plan to shift the semiconductor plant from Maharashtra to Gujarat.

From mining to electronic manufacturing

The mining or metal sector, Vedanta, is trying into other sectors to diversify its portfolio into electronic manufacturing and semiconductor.

"We are looking at building capacities across businesses with planned new investments. For FY23, we have planned around $2 billion capex investment in zinc, oil and gas and aluminium. I am excited about our acquisition of Nicomet which makes us the sole producer of Nickel in India, a metal which is in high demand for electric vehicles and batteries," said Agarwal in its AGM speech.

Financially, the last year has been a good year for the mining giant. It clocked record revenue of ₹131,192 crore and EBIDTA of ₹45,319 crore, which was up 66% Year-on-Year and contributed more than ₹54,000 crore to the government exchequer. In fact, the company delivered strong performance across its business verticals. Its aluminium business recorded the highest-ever annual production. Its debt fell by ₹3435 crore. As per its annual financial result, the company has a strong liquidity position with cash and cash equivalents of ₹32,130 crore (FY 2021: ₹32514 crore).

'India did well as it ignored advice of fiscal expansion'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

AT a time when slowing growth and high inflation are afflicting most of the major economies of the world, India is doing well because it did not pay heed to expert advice for 'untrammelled' fiscal and monetary expansion during the pandemic years of 2020 and 2021, says the August economic review report of the department of economic affairs, ministry of finance.

The report says that watchful and prudent fiscal management and credible monetary policy will remain essential for India to fulfil its growth aspirations. "Both these pillars of public policy will enable benchmark borrowing costs for the government and the private sector to decline, facilitating public and private sector capital formation," says the report. The report lays down its plans to lower debt and debt servicing cost. It says that the government will pursue vigorous asset monetisation at all levels of government to achieve the goal of lowering debt. As per the report, asset monetisation would cause risk premium to drop and credit rating of India to improve. "A virtuous circle would set in as the quality of public expenditure increases in its wake and the private sector enjoys a lower cost of capital," it says. The report, however, cautions underlying inflation risks even though India has done well so far in controlling it from spiralling out of control. It says that there is no room for complacency on the inflation front as lower crops-sowing for the Kharif season calls for deft management of stocks of agricultural commodities and market prices without jeopardising farm exports. It has words of caution regarding India's energy security with winters around the corner. "In winter months, heightened global focus on energy security in advanced nations could elevate geopolitical tensions, testing India's astute handling of its energy needs so far," says the report. The report blames India's relatively higher inflation to external reasons. It says India being a net commodity-importing country, has been feeling 'externally situated exogenous pressures'. "Increase in international prices was reflected in an uptick in domestic prices, though rise in domestic prices was relatively modest on account of the timely interventions taken by the government," says the report.

FinMin report says 'no room for complacency'

As per the report, asset monetisation will cause risk premium to drop and credit rating of India to improve. "A virtuous circle will set in as the quality of public expenditure rises and the private sector enjoys a lower cost of capital," it says. RBI expects India's current account deficit to remain within 3% of GDP in FY23

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

EVEN as analysts and economists predict India's current account deficit (CAD) to be over 3%, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is expecting the CAD to be within 3% of GDP.

This confidence of the country's central bank stems from India's exports performance. In its State of the Economy report, the Central Bank says that the export target of $750 billion for goods and services for 2022-23 is appearing within reach. In addition, it says that India is cementing its position as the top remittances' receiver in the world, with inflows touching $ 90 billion last year and set to create a new record (this year).

A country has a current account deficit when its imports of goods, services and net income from overseas investments exceeds its exports.

The RBI also appeared confident of financing this deficit. "With portfolio flows returning and foreign direct investment remaining strong, this order of deficit is eminently financeable," it said in its State of the Economy report.

And even as the RBI is optimistic about lower than 3% CAD, analysts have a different view. Recently, rating agency ICRA projected CAD at 3.5% of GDP in FY23.

India Ratings in a report on Friday said that as GDP forecasts of some of India's key exporting destinations such as the US, Eurozone and China have been revised downwards, this may put India's exports targets of $750 billion (goods and services) for FY23 in jeopardy. Meanwhile, the report sticks to its earlier reading that Inflation had peaked in April 2022, and attributed the uptick in August inflation number to 'the fading away of base effects.'

However, RBI believes There is a resurgence of food price pressures, mainly stemming from cereals even as fuel and core components provided a modest measure of respite.

"Spatial unevenness in rainfall in September has set off an upsurge in prices of key vegetables, in particular, tomatoes. On the food front, furthermore, we need to brace up for the impact of the predicted delayed withdrawal of the monsoon," says the report.

Prepared to help deploy 5G tech in India, says telecom gear maker Nokia

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

TELECOM gear maker Nokia has said it is ready to help deploying 5G technology in India and it is preparing for this for more than a year.

In an interaction with TNIE, a spokesperson of the company also said it believes the rollout of 5G will have a huge impact on economic growth and commercial activity in the country.

"We are excited about the momentum on 5G, with leading Indian operators having announced their phased deployment plans," said the spokesperson. He added that the firm has been preparing for this since more than a year. Telcos are going to roll out 5G service in the country in next few months. While Reliance Jio said it would launch its 5G service by Diwali, Airtel mentioned that it would roll out its 5G services in next few months.

However, the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) kept Chinese equipment makers out of the Indian 5G market by amending the licence rule for procurement of telecom equipment. It mandated the telcos to source telecom equipment for expansion or upgrade of their existing network from trusted sources. The Chinese vendors like Huawei and ZTE don't fall in DoT's 'trusted source'. With this government's decision, the telcos are now dependent on firms like Nokia, Samsung, Ericsson and others for equipment procurement.

However, the telcos and equipment makers believe it is hardly going to impact the speed of 5G rollout in the country. The Finnish tech giant Nokia said it is one of the biggest carrier suppliers in India. Globally, the firm has announced more than 233 5G commercial deals and 77 live 5G operator networks and has a solid presence in every advanced 5G market. "We have the largest manufacturing facility in Chennai, manufacturing 5G equipment for India and the world and are gearing up to meet the requirements of our customers," said the spokesperson.

Currently, Huawei has a 29% share of the global telecom equipment market, followed by Nokia and Ericsson at 15% each.

India may soon get first REIT of retail real estate assets

PTI @ New Delhi

INDIA is expected to get its first Real Estate Investment Trust (REIT) of retail assets soon as institutional investors and developers look to monetise their rent-yielding space in shopping malls, according to JLL India.

REIT, a popular instrument globally, was introduced in India a few years ago to attract investment in the real estate sector by monetising rent-yielding assets. It helps unlock the massive value of real estate assets and enable retail participation.

Currently, there are three listed REITs - Embassy Office Parks REIT, Mindspace Business Parks REIT and Brookfield India Real Estate Trust - on Indian stock exchanges but all these are of leased office assets. Property consultant JLL in its latest report on retail real estate segment highlighted that institutional investment in the retail sector has been picking up since 2021. More than $862 million investments have come from 2021 (excluding portfolio deals). Many global investors are investing in the retail sector either by buying a stake in existing assets or through greenfield development platforms. "The retail market seems to benefit from favourable demographics, rapid urbanisation, and rising consumption," the consultant said. The report noted that investors are expecting healthy returns in the long run, considering the growth potential. "Investors are looking for quality Grade A assets by established developers having less vacancy. Investors prefer leased-based assets over strata-sold assets to ensure fair market rentals and timely returns," it said.

The consultant mentioned that investment in retail assets is not just limited to metros, as significant activities have been recorded in Tier 2 and Tier 3 cities as well. "Additionally, investments by these institutional players help developers to exit the project partially or fully, reduce their debt, and focus on other developments," the report said.

Want Chennai to host ATP and WTA meets back-to-back, says Amritraj

TNTA chief reveals ambitions of making two tour-level events part of calendar in the long run

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

GOING forward, the Tamil Nadu Tennis Association (TNTA) president, Vijay Amritraj, wants Chennai to have a 'tennis carnival' in the first quarter of all years. If his wishes are true, Chennai will be in line to host two tour-level events (one each in the ATP and the WTA) as well as a Challenger-level tournament. He also mentioned that the ongoing Chennai Open is pretty close to 'breaking even'. Excerpts from an interview with a few journalists.

On his thoughts on the tournament

The concern I have is the window. Every time you start talking about the calendar, you come back to a January-February window. This (event) is kind of like a one-off thing from the calendar standpoint. From here, only if you are really only going to Seoul and Tokyo, you are coming (here). And it's right after the US Open. So, it's a really tricky time. When you go back and look at the calendar, February would be the perfect date for something like this. WTA has major events in Dubai and Doha. That would work nicely.

On his goals for this event

I want to eventually have one ATP and WTA event. That's the goal. However we do it, what part of the year we do it... one WTA and one ATP event. We don't have the infrastructure (to host both events simultaneously) but we can do one after the other.

TNTA president Vijay Amritraj | R SATISH KUMAR

What Amritraj wants?

Chennai to host three international meets

1 ATP 250

1 WTA 250

1 Challenger sandwiched between two upcoming Bengaluru events

1 'young Legends' event

Multiple Futures spread across Tamil Nadu

On his preferences

I would like to prepare properly and do both the WTA and ATP meets in the first quarter of the year. That's the preference. I also don't want to get married to the September date. I'm not jumping up and down for a variety of reasons. For us, January, February and March are the best times to run and event. If I did an ATP and WTA back-to-back, qualifying ATP, main draw, qualifying WTA and main draw. It will be a tennis festival. It will be Indian Wells for me here. We can pull in everyone from a sponsorship perspective and give a good sales pitch. We need a secured place on the calendar.

On potentially hosting a Davis Cup

Chennai is the perfect venue to host a home tie. Whenever India plays a home tie, it's the players who decide the surface (venue). If players pick the hard court as their preference, there is no better place than Chennai for a variety of reasons. We have two Tamil Nadu players in the Davis Cup team. They can make full use of the home advantage. We can even play the tie in Coimbatore.

On hosting a Challenger meet in 2023

Next year, Chennai would be hosting a Challenger, immediately after the Bangaluru event. We haven't decided which category of Challenger though. We will finalise after the Chennai Open. We will take the Futures (lowest rung of events in the international calendar) across Tamil Nadu. We want to have the tournaments in Madurai, Trichy and Coimbatore. We are also trying to get a foreign coach who can travel across and conduct clinics. We are also looking at the possibilities of running a 'young legends' event with the likes of Goran (Ivanisevic), (Andy) Roddick, (James) Blake; all the guys in the 40s category.

On the financial aspect

The event should always be a hybrid (a partnership between government and private). Either one can't do it alone. We need government support. The numbers are fairly straightforward. We didn't pay any appearance fee. We made a call upfront, not to open our purse for the appearance fee. But we didn't know whether we would get to a point of even breaking even because the government can only do that much. They did. The onus was on us to raise the sponsorships. We had a short period of time to arrange. We are just about getting there to break even.

Fruhvirtova, 17, makes first WTA final

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

THE first semifinal began when fans brought in piping hot coffees and other beverages to the stands. The second of the doubles semifinals — first match on Saturday — between Gabriela Dabrowski/Luisa Stefani and Peangtarn Plipuech/Moyuka Uchijima (the former won 6-3, 6-3) — was the undercard and it did what it was supposed to do. Whet the appetite for more tennis.

By the time Nadia Podoroska and Linda Fruhvirtova — learn both the spelling and the pronunciation because you will see the 17-year-old in bigger stages in the years to come — finished, fans were gulping down their post dinner snacks. After two hours and 53 minutes, the 17-year-old Czech fell down on the blue hard court. In the on-court press conference, she said 'it was one of the toughest matches I have ever played'. The scoreboard — 5-7, 6-2, 6-4 — didn't even begin to tell the story on a tough, tough night for both players. The conditions made it harder. With no wind to speak of, both were constantly using towels.

It also resulted in a medical timeout for Fruhvirtova in the first set, who was trailing 2-5. She had already played a few iffy games and the physio gave her the all clear after checking her vital signs. While she likes to balance her attack and defense, her big attacking weapon is the backhand of hers. She can divert the ball to the other wing, she can hit with power and she can drop it. She showed all these aspects over the next two sets to clinch a thriller that was witnessed by one of the largest crowds the tournament has witnessed. That backhand was primarily the reason for her taking the set. After Podoroska broke to open the second set, the match had a feeling that the climax was nearing. That's before the 17-year-old painted the blue canvas with a flurry of winners (she was also helped by some sub-standard volleying from her opponent). From 0-1 in the second set, she won six of the next seven games.

Linda Fruhvirtova | MARTIN LOUIS

What's more remarkable about her win is the way she recovered after taking a second medical timeout in the third set, to get some attention on her left ankle. The experienced Argentine, eight years her senior, had just broken the Czech's serve and had all the momentum back with her. Post that break, Fruhvirtova, who won the Les Petits As meet (a highly prestigious international age-group competition) as a kid, found a second wind. From 2-4, she held serve before breaking to restore parity. With the crowd getting into the act, she did herself no harm by asking for some more noise. They reciprocated.

With Podoroska, a 2020 French Open semifinalist, suddenly staying to serve in the tournament, the teenager won three points on the spin to manufacture three match points. The Argentine saved all three but a double fault on the fourth meant the Czech advanced to her first ever tour-level final. "The best atmosphere I ever played in," she said after the match.

She will face Pole Magda Linette in the final. Katie Swan, who finished her quarterfinal at 2.50 AM on Saturday, retired when trailing 0-3 in the first set. Illness was the official explanation.

Injured Bajrang loses, medal hopes still alive

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

BACK in 2019, the venue was iconic Madison Square Garden in New York. Bajrang Punia then became the first Indian wrestler to be invited by the USA Wrestling to compete at the famed New York fight night. Even as he created history, Bajrang lost a close bout to USA's Yianni Diakomihalis 8-10.

The two met again after three years but the venue and event were different with a World Championships medal to fight for. However, the result remained the same with the only difference being a 10-0 win via technical superiority for Yianni.

Earlier, at the Stark Arena in Belgrade, Serbia, Bajrang on Saturday had already edged past two-time Worlds bronze medallist Alejandro Enrique Valdes Tobier from Cuba 5-4 in a close 1/8 bout despite suffering a head injury in the first period. Heavily bandaged on the head during the medical timeout, the Tokyo Olympic bronze medallist managed to come out triumphant only to meet the American wrestler in the quarterfinal. The injury apparently slowed down the three-time Worlds medallist as his opponent got four stepouts to take a lead of 4-0 after the first period. Bajrang tried to bridge the gap in the second and final period but the two-time cadet world champ took him down, the decision was challenged by the Indian camp but got overturned. The American again executed a takedown and had one more stepout to complete the win. Incidentally, India's Sujeet had beat Yianni a couple of months ago to claim 65kg gold at the Zouhaier Sghaier Ranking Series in Tunis, Tunisia.

Bajrang will now have a shot at the bronze medal as the American wrestler reached the final. Meanwhile, Sagar Jaglan narrowly missed out on a medal in the 74kg weight category. He won the first two bouts before losing the quarterfinal against the eventual finalist from the USA. He then defeated Suldkhuu Olonbayar of Mongolia 7-3 in the repechage round to make it to the bronze medal contest. However, Iran's Yones Aliakbar Emamichoghaei proved to be too strong for the Indian in the bronze medal match.

Norway too strong for India in Davis Cup

AGENCIES @ Lillehammer (Norway)

INDIA were thrashed 0-3 by a far-superior Norway team as World No 2 Casper Ruud combined with Viktor Durasovic to win the doubles match and complete the rout in the World Group-I tie of the Davis Cup here on Saturday.

The Indian pair of Yuki Bhambri and Saketh Myneni went down 3-6, 6-3 3-6.

City crush Wolves to go top

AFP @ Wolverhampton

JACK Grealish scored his first goal this season and Erling Haaland extended his record-breaking hot-streak as Manchester City powered to a 3-0 win over 10-man Wolves on Saturday. Pep Guardiola's side needed just 56 seconds to take the lead at Molineux as Grealish finally enjoyed a day to remember after a difficult time since joining City from Aston Villa last year.

Haaland doubled City's advantage with his 14th goal in 10 games in all competitions following a £51 million ($58 million) move from Borussia Dortmund that already appears a bargain. Wolves lost any chance of a fightback when Nathan Collins was sent off for an ugly stomach-high foul on Grealish in the first half. Phil Foden capped City's stroll in the midlands sunshine as the Premier League champions moved to the top of the table.

Unbeaten City are two points clear of second placed Arsenal, who would regain pole position if they win at Brentford on Sunday. Guardiola said this week that the "exceptional" Haaland was the "perfect" person to manage because his personality ensured he always remains hungry to improve.

Villa, Fulham win

Aston Villa eased the pressure on under-fire boss Steven Gerrard with a 1-0 win over Southampton on Friday as the league returned following the death of Queen Elizabeth II.

The English top-flight was back in action for the first time since the Queen died aged 96 on September 8, with last weekend's games postponed as a mark of respect.

Ahead of kick-off at Villa Park and the City Ground, where Fulham beat Nottingham Forest 3-2, there was a minute's silence followed by the national anthem in a tribute to the Queen.

Lewandowski double

BARCELONA: Relentless striker Robert Lewandowski pounced twice as Barcelona hammered 10-man Elche 3-0 to move a point clear at the top of La Liga on Saturday.

The Polish forward continued his sensational form since joining from Bayern Munich this summer, with a brace taking him to 11 goals in eight appearances across all competitions. With Real Madrid visiting Atletico Madrid in the Sunday night capital derby clash, this was a chance for Barcelona to provisionally depose their rivals for the first time this season, and they took it.

DULEEP TROPHY

Sai Kishore scalps 7, South take big lead

AGENCIES @ Salem

LEFT-ARM spinner R Sai Kishore stole the show with a seven-wicket haul as South Zone seized the all-important lead against North Zone on Day 3 of the Duleep Trophy semifinal here on Saturday.

Tamil Nadu spinner Sai Kishore, who has been impressive in the white ball formats, came up with a superb showing, snaring seven wickets including that of the talented Yash Dhull (39, 70 balls, 4 fours, 1 six) to help dismiss North Zone for 207 in 67 overs.

Resuming at 24 for no loss, Dhull and Manan Vohra (27) pushed North Zone's first innings score to 67 before off-spinner K Gowtham (2 for 68) struck the first blow, removing the latter, caught by Rohan Kunnummal.

Dhull, who had slammed a ton in the quarterfinal against East Zone, could not carry on his good form, following Vohra into the pavillion four runs later. He nicked one to keeper Ricky Bhui to give Sai Kishore his first scalp. North slipped to 116 for 4 as captain Mandeep Singh (14) and Dhruv Shorey (28) were dismissed in quick succession. Himanshu Rana (17) and Nishant Sindhu (40, 64 balls, 4 fours, 2 sixes) put on 48 runs for the fifth wicket. However, the exit of Rana, who was trapped leg before by Sai Kishore, saw North lose another wicket quickly.

Sindhu kept fighting but he did not get much support from the other end and Sai Kishore ran through the lower order.

North were dismissed for 207, giving South a mammoth first innings lead. The lanky spinner finished with 7/70.

South did not enforce the follow-on and chose to bat a second time. Rohan Kunnummal, who scored a ton in the first essay, came with a quickfire 77 (72 balls) as the batters enjoyed the time out in the middle. At stumps, South were 157 for 1.

Brief scores: South Zone 630/8 decl in 172. overs (Rohan Kunnummal 143, Hanuma Vihari 134, Ricky Bhui 103 n.o) and 157/1 in 28 overs (Rohan Kunnummal 77, Mayank Agarwal 53 batting) vs North Zone 207 in 67 overs (Nishant Sindhu 40, Yash Dhull 39, Dhruv Shorey 28, R Sai Kishore 7 for 70).

JK TYRE FMSCI NATIONAL C'SHIP

25 and counting: Endless drive to steer Indians to success

GOMESH S @ Coimbatore

WHEN the JK Tyre FMSCI National Racing Championship was held for the first time in 1997, Hari Singh was still one of the most decorated rally drivers in the country. Twenty five years on, as the silver jubilee season got underway in Coimbatore on Saturday, Singh — the head of operations at JK Tyre Motorsport — feels the fact that the championship has happened every single year, even through the pandemic, in itself is a great thing.

"It's the dream that we had in the last couple of years," Singh told this daily. "We've been able to have the event through the toughest of times, strictest of rules with Covid conditions and of course, Covid has set us back. It's going to take a little while before we get back to full steam. It's unfortunate that the 25th year, as of now, is running only with the Indian championships, but we are hoping by the end of the year, by December, we have something lined up as a finale."

Over the last couple of decades, JK Tyre has been among the household names when it comes to racing in India, producing and elevating Indian racing drivers to the international stage — Narain Karthikeyan, Karun Chandhok, Gaurav Gill, Armaan Ebrahim, to name a few. Singh, who has been organising the event for over a decade now, says that it has been their key motto. "We want to give them enough confidence and build them so that, it is a tough world out there, it's not just the driving, but the financial part. It's a challenge for them to excel internationally, but we are doing what we need to do and help them," he said.

Action from the LGB Formula 4 race in Coimbatore on Saturday

Singh credits Raghupati Singhania, Chairman of JK Tyre Motorsport, and Sanjay Sharma, Head-Motorsports, for the vision they have set and work that has gone behind the scenes. "We are just foot soldiers who are actually doing the job. It's a lot of thinking and planning that went behind for the championship to run. We have a great team. In JK tyre, we are all ex-racers or rally riders. We drive the championship with passion for the people who are behind the wheel and not as the person behind the desk or giving decisions otherwise."

One of the key points in their vision is to change the notion that Motorsport is an elite sport. While learning the tricks of the trade from all those they've been associated with such as VW motorsport or Formula One, Singh believes that they are doing their best to make it a level-playing field at the championships. He feels that the biggest barrier that was broken since the championships began 25 years ago is how Indian racers are entering the international scene.

"Narain did it first, the youngsters now have an avenue to get there and that is what we are talking about. Earlier, the exposure and experience were not there. Over the years, that is what the championship has given to these kids. That, I think, is a very important thing. When I went to Australia for the WRC in 1995, I was one of the first. I was quite nervous about the whole thing. Now, an Indian can go and compete with ease. That's the whole message that has gone from the championship."

20 units of electricity per day from biogas plant

Many types of products are being made from cow dung in Chhattisgarh. Among the most innovative is the plan to light gouthans with cow dung. It began with the Bancharoda model gouthan in Raipur district which generates 20 units of electricity every day. Now electricity generation from cow dung has become a topic of discussion across the country.

The gouthan, 40 km from Raipur city, is being illuminated with 500 kg of cow dung and 500 litres of water. Many women's groups of the village prepare different products in this gouthan, from organic manure, to cow dung lamps to cow urine. This requires them to work from to night, ensuring their electricity needs are fulfilled by their own efforts. Fertilizers are being made mainly from cow dung lamps and cow urine. Not only this, a large amount of organic manure is being made from cow dung. Along with this, efforts are also being made to run the gouthan's machines. In fact, earlier most of the women of Bancharoda village used to do hard labour for daily wages but now their work in gouthans is providing them enough to run their household expenses.
